

WELFARE UNIT HEARS TALKS ON MEDICAL PLAN

With Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of public schools, and Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, president of the Adams County Medical Society, stating most of the arguments for and against the proposed Murray-Wagner-Dingell amendment to the Social Security Act to provide for Federal health insurance, members of the Adams County Welfare committee spent more than two hours Tuesday evening in discussion, of the controversial measure.

Both Doctors Bream and Sheely appeared to be in agreement on the need for expanded and improved public medical care—and also that the additional social security tax to be levied to finance the public health insurance plan is probably too high—but beyond that the two discussion leaders and members of the audience of about 30 who joined in a round-table discussion took divergent views.

Sought Public Discussion
As he convened the meeting, Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the Welfare committee, a branch of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, which arranged for the meeting, emphasized that the Welfare group is neither for nor against the proposed bill but is interested chiefly in seeing the merits or faults of the bill discussed publicly and on the basis of facts submitted by opponents and backers of the bill.

Briefly stated, arguments in favor of the bill were that it would enable more people—particularly the poor and those who neglect health matters—to get adequate medical care with the cost spread over a large group of people.

Opposition to the bill, led by the American Medical Association, is based on the charge that a politically appointed surgeon-general and the council of 16 he names would put the medical profession under political pressure that would regiment private practice out of existence. There are further objections to "dictatorial" powers of the surgeon-general over the individual physician and the patient. Doctor Sheely said only a part of the taxes taken under the amendment actually would go for medical and hospital care with much of it being diverted for general social security uses.

PVT. LAWRENCE FINDS ENGLISH PEOPLE "FINE"

The English are wonderful people. The Arab youngsters with their constant begging are "a pain in the neck."

Those are two of the conclusions reached by Pvt. John H. Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, West Middle street, one of the first Gettysburg soldiers to return home from Africa in this war. He is visiting his home on a "delay enroute" to his new station at Camp Butler, North Carolina, having been sent back to the states under the U. S. Army's rotation system in which men who have served for long periods of time overseas are returned.

Given Birthday Cakes
He had been overseas since June, 1942, when he arrived in England. The English people treated the American soldiers "swell," he recalled today in an interview with a reporter for The Gettysburg Times. His 21st birthday was June 30, 1942, and the English people in a block near his camp baked five cakes to present him on the anniversary.
A member of a chauffeur company, he was kept busy as a driver during his entire period overseas. In England, after a three weeks' rest period at Kettering after docking, his company was sent to London and (Please Turn to Page 5)

Pvt. M. Cunningham Ends Boot Training

Camp Lejeune, N. C., May 24—Private Marjorie Elizabeth Cunningham, daughter of Mrs. Madeline Cunningham, of 131 South Washington street, and a member of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve, recently finished the six-week "boot" training at Camp Lejeune.
This course includes such subjects as military courtesy, Marine Corps history, close order drill, chemical warfare, map reading and other subjects pertinent to carrying out future assignments in the Marine Corps.

Her first assignment will be as a clerk typist at the Marine Barracks at Parris Island, South Carolina.

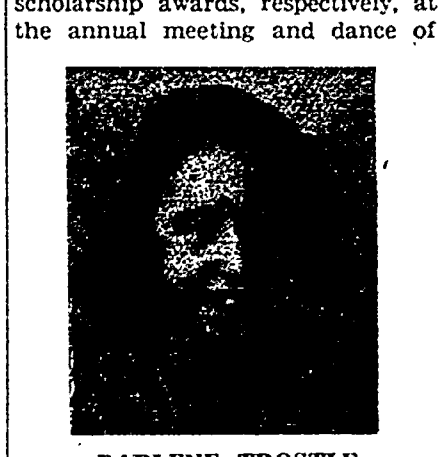

Teacher Enrolls In Maritime Service

Robert D. Fidler, a member of the teaching staff at Gettysburg high school, was recently enrolled in the U. S. Maritime Service at Baltimore.

He will undergo a training period of from three to seven months at a training station after which he will be assigned to active duty.
Mr. Fidler expects to begin training in June.

NAME WINNERS OF SCHOLARSHIP ALUMNI PRIZES

Darlene Trostle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 2, and Elizabeth Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Small, Baltimore street, will be awarded first and second alumni scholarship awards, respectively, at the annual meeting and dance of the Alumni of Gettysburg high school Monday evening at the high school.

DARLENE TROSTLE

ELIZABETH SMALL

The award is based on the students' records at Gettysburg high school for scholarship with $15 given to the first honor student and $10 to the second highest student scholastically for the four-year period.

Miss Trostle, in addition to her scholastic duties, has been active in the National Honor society, high school chorus, high school history club, Red Cross council, Girls' Athletic association, Knitting club and was cast in the school play, "Foot-loose." She plans to enter Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, to study dietetics next fall.

Miss Small is also a member of the National Honor society, and is associate editor of the student annual, the "Cannon-Aid," president of the school History club this year, Maroon and White reporter, student council member, chairman of the Service club and GAA cabinet and is a member of the band and orchestra. She plans to take up nursing at the Temple Nursing school, Philadelphia, after graduation.

HOSPITAL REPORT
Susan Bortner, Littlestown, has been admitted to the Warner hospital as a patient. Ellen Fisel, Gettysburg R. 2, instead of Mrs. James Fisel, has been admitted. Those discharged were Paul Seneca, Railroad street; Mrs. Harold Steiner and infant son, Dean Harlan, Arundsville; Mrs. Ivy Erb, Aspers; Mary Shockey, Taneytown; Fred A. King, Littlestown, and Roy Baumgardner, Keymar, Maryland.

CORRECTION
Richard Sanders instead of Robert Sanders, as previously announced, is a member of the graduating class at Gettysburg high school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Myers Mark 50th Anniversary

Without special celebration, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Myers, 149 Chambersburg street, marked their golden wedding day today. They received many messages of congratulation from their host of friends in this community where they resided since their wedding day.
They were united in marriage in the Presbyterian church here by the late Rev. Hugh Gilchrist, then local pastor. Mrs. Myers before her marriage was Miss Clara Belle Rife. They have lived on Chambersburg street since going to housekeeping and have resided at their present address for the last 16 years.

9 COUNTIANS ARE HONORED AT ULCA MEET

"The battleground of the home-front in America is the Christian college campus," Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college said Tuesday night in an address before the seventh annual convention of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America, at Harrisburg.

Doctor Hanson was one of the speakers at the second day's session of the three-day convention, which ends tonight with ordination and licensure of new pastors.

Growth of Cooperation
A strengthening of cooperative bonds among churches throughout the world, preferably without an organic unity, was urged by the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle, dean of the Yale Divinity school, and graduate of Gettysburg college and seminary.

Dean Weigle asserted the maintenance of individual unity of churches is desirable, and that a unity of purpose is more important than an organic unity. He also declared that unless we maintain a freedom of religion, the other three freedoms for which we are fighting will fall by the wayside.

Unanimous approval was given a petition of the United Lutheran Church of America to change the eastern boundary line of the synod so as to clearly mark limits of the Central Pennsylvania Synod and the United Lutheran Ministerium.

PENROSE MYERS IN 69TH YEAR

Penrose Myers, dean of Gettysburg business men, observed this week the 68th anniversary of the establishment of his jewelry business at 12 Baltimore street.

He opened his store at the present location May 22, 1876, and has been located there since that time. In business at one location longer than any other local business man, he is believed to also hold that record for the county.

He served three years as an apprentice jeweler and watchmaker at Hanover before opening his store here and since that time has trained a large number of men who have become foremost in the jewelry and watch-making business in this section and in other sections of the country. He takes nearly as much pride in watching the progress of the men he has trained as he does in the conduct of his own business.

Planning to continue active management of the store for many more years, Mr. Myers has seen his establishment grow from a one-bench workshop to the present business which combines the sale and repair of watches, clocks and jewelry with the sale of souvenirs.

Besides being one of the town's leading jewelers he has also served as county treasurer and has been a life member and one of the oldest members of the Gettysburg lodge of Elks. He is a Mason and belongs to the Commandery and Shrine.

No special anniversary celebration was held.

Fink Enters Plea In 1937 Hold-Up

William Fink, one of a group of five men who robbed $13 in cash and $20 worth of cigarettes and candy from the F. E. Coulson garage in York Springs December 18, 1937, today signed a plea of guilty to the charge before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore. He was committed to the county jail to await sentence.

Fink, who was sentenced shortly after the robbery to six years in the Eastern penitentiary for a similar charge in Cumberland county was brought to the county jail Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Blaine Bixler on a detainer filed in 1938.

Wings And Boots Won By Lt. Bucher

Second Lt. Wayne A. Bucher, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Bucher, Howard avenue, has won the right to wear Wings and Boots of the U. S. Army Paratroops after completion of a four weeks of jump training at Ft. Benning, Georgia, during which he made five jumps from a plane in flight.

Jumping at the Parachute school has been steadily developed to a recognized far science. There is less than one per cent chance of injury while jumping at the school.

In addition to producing jumpers, parachute specialist training is given to qualified men in communication, demolition, riggers and sewing machine maintenance, vital skills for airborne troops.

THOMAS URGES "CORRECTION" IN U. S. LOANS

Edmund W. Thomas, president of the First National bank of Gettysburg and chairman of the committee of competitive agencies of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, today urged congressional action to secure "prompt remedies to correct some of the expensive inequalities" between privately-owned banks and federally financed savings and loan associations.

Speaking at the convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers Association at Pittsburgh this afternoon, Mr. Thomas asserted that government competition with privately chartered banks has been "most vigorous and destructive" in the field of agricultural financing and that "most of the agricultural financing agencies of the government recently openly stated that it is now their intention to compete with banks for farm loans." The federal agencies, he asserted, were originally started with the "avowed purpose of tiding the farmer over the emergency created by the depression."

Banks Pay Taxes
Because the banks pay taxes to the government while the federal agencies do not, Mr. Thomas charged the government was preventing greater income for itself by establishment of the financial agencies. The agencies, he asserted, cut down the profit banks normally would make from the loans and thus decrease the amount of taxes that would ordinarily be paid by the private institutions. The situation, he said, is one of "burning the tax candle at both ends."

"Despite the grants by the government to the Federal agencies, it is cheaper, when all costs are taken into consideration, for a farmer to borrow from a private bank than from a federal loan agency," Thomas asserted.
"Our banks were never in a stronger position than they are today. They have ample funds to make loans and they are better equipped to make these agricultural loans," the Gettysburg banker declared in pointing out that of 1,023 banks in the state as of June 30, 1943, 833 were making agricultural loans and 534 were making production loans.

Back Bond Drives
Asserting that the banks handled 80 per cent of the war bonds sold during the first four nation-wide campaigns, Thomas added that the record has done little to help the banks against "inequalities" of the Federal savings agencies.
"With a Congress that is thoroughly aroused to the necessity of reducing government expenditures, with the exception of those devoted to the prosecution of the war, it is earnestly hoped that with the merits of this situation and the excellent record of the privately chartered banks of this country, prompt remedies will be adopted to correct some of these expensive inequalities," he added.

Pre-School Kiddies Checked At Clinic

Forty-two local boys and girls—about half of the number expected to enter the first grade classrooms at High Street and Meade schools in September—were given physical checkups and were enrolled at Gettysburg's second pre-school clinic, Tuesday, at the high school building.
Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, school district medical director, and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Ridler, school nurse and attendance officer, measured and weighed the youngsters, recorded any diseases and vaccinations they have had and suggested to parents any features of the child's health on which family physicians should be consulted.
L. C. Keefeauver, superintendent of schools here, said that most of the boys and girls apparently are well-nourished, healthy and up to normal weight. Many already have had smallpox vaccinations and inoculations for diphtheria.
A similar clinic was conducted here in the summer of 1942.

CONSIDER PLAN FOR MUSEUM OF WAR TROPHIES

Booby captured by Adams county soldiers may be placed in a "museum" here in the near future, it was revealed today.

Paul L. Spangler, commander of the American Legion post here, said today the possibility of the Legion establishing a museum room to put on permanent display the various relics and battle equipment sent back by county soldiers will be discussed by the post at its meeting Monday evening.

A large collection of enemy equipment has already been established in the windows of Philip Bickle's office on Baltimore street and Mr. Bickle said this morning that the relics turned in are exceeding the amount of space available at his office for the collection.

Relics From All Theaters

Included among the articles already on display are an Italian Fascist hat, a German helmet and an African soldier's spear point sent back from North Africa by Capt. John J. Knox, former local physician. Paul "Blackie" Knox has sent a Japanese soldier's rifle and ammunition belt from New Guinea. A plate taken from a fallen Japanese airplane, a Japanese soldier's dungaree shirt, rain cover and sweat shirt, a Japanese bayonet, rifle and money, and an ensign captured from a Japanese warship were all sent back by Pfc. Grover E. Thompson, who secured the articles after the battle of Kawajeleine in the Marshall Islands.

A Japanese automatic rifle captured by MM 1-c Jesse L. Clapsaddle during the invasion of one of the Japanese Islands in the South Pacific is also on display as is a Japanese rifle, two booby traps used by the Japanese in the South Pacific and a Japanese soldier's tooth brush, tools, and bandages and other articles, all sent home by Jacob Anpler, serving with the Seabees.

An aviation insignia taken from a German flyer's uniform in the display was sent home by Pvt. George C. Mitchell, now on the Anzio beachhead.

Now Is Colonel In Medical Corps

Mrs. William A. Boyson, house mother for the Delta Gamma sorority at Gettysburg college, has received word that her husband, Dr. William A. Boyson, serving with the Medical Corps at Camp Barkley, Texas, has been promoted to the rank of a full colonel. Both Col. and Mrs. Boyson are Gettysburg college graduates of the class of 1917.

Col. Boyson served overseas in the first World war and before re-entering service in this conflict was practicing medicine in Mechanicsburg. One son, a captain, is with the Army in England, another is an aviation lieutenant in the Marine Corps. The youngest son is a Gettysburg college freshman.

Women Of Moose Hold Initiation

With more than 30 visitors on hand from York, Westminster and Hanover, the Gettysburg chapter of the Women of the Moose on Tuesday evening initiated a class of six new members in honor of Laura Pfaff, Quakertown, associate grand dean, who was guest of honor at the affair held in the lodge home on York street. Mrs. Pfaff spoke briefly. A luncheon preceded the meeting at which the initiation took place.

Hospital Guild chapter night was observed with Mrs. Virginia Lawver in charge. She read two poems, "Good Cheer" and "Do It Now." Mary Miller presented the readings, "GI Everything" and "The Ship Eleonor."

There were seven visitors from the York chapter, 14 from Westminster and 12 from Hanover.

ASSAULT CASE

LaRue Sents, Littlestown R. 1, was released on her own recognizance for a hearing before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore this evening at 8:30 o'clock following her arrest Tuesday by Constable George Hughes on an assault charge brought by Madeline C. Smeak, Taneytown R. 1.

NEW FEVER CASE

The cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buchler, Marsh Creek Heights, was placed under scarlet fever quarantine Tuesday by William I. Shields, county health officer. A daughter, Caroline aged two years, is ill with the disease.

POSTPONE CAMP

The one-day camp scheduled to be held today by the ten Adams county home economics clubs was postponed for two weeks due to the inclement weather. Miss Mildred Adams, county home economics extension advisor, has announced.

5,000 PLANES BLAST VIENNA, BERLIN, PARIS

By GLADWIN HILL
London, May 24 (AP)—Upward of 5,000 planes, mostly American, bombed Berlin, Vienna, Paris, airmen and military targets on the French coast today in perhaps the greatest Allied aerial assault of the war.

A force of around 2,000 U. S. heavy bombers and fighters struck Berlin and German fields fringing Paris. The Nazis said intense air battles were fought over Berlin and the Baltic. Pilots returning from France said that no interceptors were encountered near Paris and that Flak was moderate to heavy. Four airfields were pummeled in northern France.

Out Of Italy
American heavy bombers from Italy soared across the Alps to Vienna and bombed the Atinberdorf Aircraft factory and other targets nearby.

The Italy-based bombers also attacked the Avio viaduct north of Trento on the Brenner Pass line, chief artery between Germany and the flaming battlefronts to the south. Others struck military targets at Graz in Austria and Zagreb, capital of the puppet state of Croatia.

Wave upon wave of U. S. Medium Marauders shook the threatened French invasion coast with bomb loads that rattled houses in England, 20 miles across the English Channel.

Air Defense Split

South coast British dwellers said the outpouring of aerial strength was awe-inspiring and the greatest many had ever seen. The attacks carried the renewed aerial assault through its sixth consecutive day, running the bomb toll to above 25,000 tons for the period.

The Berlin attack was the fourth U. S. blow at the rubble German capital this month and came less than 12 hours after a rain of two-ton blockbusters from British Mosquitos. The swift, wooden planes also dumped their destructive cargo on Dortmund and French railroads before dawn. They suffered no loss.

Germany's thinly stretched air defenses were split wide open, but the Nazis insisted that intense battles were fought over Berlin itself and the Baltic region above, and in the Vienna region. The Paris radio said the south, southwest and southeast suburbs of Paris were bombed and that "damage was considerable."

Birth Announcements

Capt. and Mrs. George Hikes announce the birth of a son, Dale, Jr., May 22, at the Carlisle Barracks hospital. Capt. Hikes is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hikes, Gardeners, and Mrs. Hikes is the former Lt. Alexine Gandy, Florence, South Carolina.

Pfc. and Mrs. Robert Ford, Jr., announce the birth of a son, Robert Dale, at the Warner hospital last Saturday. Pfc. Ford is stationed in New Guinea.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Schmidt, Washington, D. C., announce the birth of a son, Charles. Mrs. Schmidt is the former Miss Janet Hoke, daughter of Mrs. Charles R. Hoke, Emmitsburg.

"Wacky" Hats, Sad Yarns Delight Soroptimists

The May dinner of the Soroptimist club was held at the Green Parrot tea room, Emmitsburg, Tuesday evening with 21 present. Members were required to wear old or comical hats and tell their most embarrassing experience.

Four guests, Mrs. Fred Faber, Miss Esther Tipton, Miss Sarah Jane Maust and Miss Elizabeth Daley, served as judges and awarded prizes to Mrs. Elizabeth Hennig for a "flower garden hat"; Mrs. Wilmer Bream for a creation of the Coolidge era; Mrs. David Blocher for an original model called "A Snake in the Garden of Eden"; and Mrs. Guyon E. Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 24 (AP)—An American armored column smashed through the German flank on the Rome side of Cisterna today, imminently threatening that beachhead line stronghold.

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 24 (AP)—U. S. troops bursting from the Anzio beachhead have seized a mile-long chunk of the Appian way to Rome. The great Allied pincer push from the east has breached the Hitler line in the Liri valley, and in the center, headquarters announced today.

Other Americans striking up from the south have seized Monte Alto, 10 miles north of Terracina, and only 19 miles from Littoria on the beachhead. This shaped a wide pocket for Germans in the whole stretch of mountains and Pontine marshes below the beachhead to Terracina.

American beachhead forces drove ahead powerfully today, a front dispatch said, after breaking through to win a 2,000-yard stretch of the Appian way within a half-mile of Cisterna, and snipping the railway to Rome four miles below Velletri, 7,500 Prisoners

Their British Anzio comrades meanwhile forced the Moletta river farther west, and rammed into defenses anchoring the Nazi line.

The coordinated main front offensive smashed forward, with Canadians breaching the Hitler fortifications near Pontecorvo—part of the formidable line across the Liri valley—while the French won Pico, pivot point in the mountains at the center of the front. The bag of prisoners for the entire offensive rose to 7,500.

The Americans on the lower front advanced 10 miles in 36 hours to take the dominating heights of Monte Alto and push closer to junction with beachhead troops. Farther south, other units of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces hurled the enemy out of Lenola, which is on a vital lateral road running north through Valle Cora toward Frosinone.

30-Mile Advance
As a result of these newest gains, the Fifth army's penetration from its jumping off places on the main front in the current offensive exceeded thirty miles air line.

Heavy fighting continued in all sectors as the enemy strove desperately to halt the beachhead thrust which in a few hours cut one of the main lines of supply and retreat for the menaced tenth German army barely over 20 miles south of Rome.

Official reports said: "Fanning out in a generally northeastern direction our troops within a few hours drove spearheads up to 2,000 yards into the enemy's strongly-held fortified positions. Armor led the way in several places."

"Infantrymen ran into extensive mine fields, mazes of wire and numbers of strong points but kept pressing the enemy backward. Progress was delayed for some time at some places by mines, but paths were cleared by mid-morning and our tanks continued to advance against stiff resistance. By noon, May 23, some 300 prisoners were counted."

Last-Ditch Defense

"In view of the intensive preparations of the enemy, our troops were surprised to find comparatively light artillery fire at the beginning. The first batch of prisoners re-

Invasion

London, May 24 (AP)—The Allies adopted a firm military approach today in summoning French patriots to get ready for their role when D-Day dawns, while in this island the disposing of troops and assembling of fleets for the western invasion went forward steadily.

The government-controlled British Broadcasting corporation told French patriots that instructions—similar to those from the supreme headquarters of the American Expeditionary force—would be given them regularly.

"It is no longer a question of voluntary service," BBC bluntly informed the underground, "it now is an order to you."

"You are to keep out of German hands and hold yourselves in readiness for the day of action. That is the duty of every Frenchman."

Jap Defenses

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Japan's Pacific defenses have proved so weak under American and Allied pressure that military authorities here are frankly puzzled about what the enemy can do next to protect himself. Some top-flight leaders intimately familiar with Pacific operations doubt that the Japanese now have any well-developed strategy for holding on to rich, strategic areas of their empire, and are compelled to improvise as new blows fall in unexpected quarters.

Poland

London, May 24 (AP)—The Moscow radio proclaimed today that representatives of the pro-Russian Polish National Council had arrived in Moscow from German-occupied Poland to "establish contact" with the U.S.S.R. and her allies—an announcement which seemed to imply Moscow had abandoned hope of reconciliation with the London Polish government-in-exile. The announcement was in the Russian language and while it was sponsored by the Union of Polish Patriots in Moscow, it obviously had the Kremlin's approval.

Bulgaria

Ankara, May 23 (Delayed) (AP)—Russia will break off relations with Bulgaria unless "the Bulgars change their policy by midnight, May 25," advices received here by telegraph said today. These reports said the Bulgars received the Soviet ultimatum in a stern note Monday. Bulgaria, not formally at war with Russia, has been under heavy two-way pressure from Germany seeking to force more military support from the Balkan nation, and from Russia which is attempting to budge her from her Axis alignment.

BULLETINS

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The Senate Military Affairs committee today held up approval of a permanent rank promotion for Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., in recommending favorable action in the cases of 13 other general officers. Patton's slapping of a soldier in a Sicilian hospital had been subjected to a committee investigation.

The committee gave no formal explanation of its refusal to sanction a proposed permanent advancement from the rank of colonel of cavalry to major general, but Chairman Chandler (D-Ky.) of the nominations sub-committee said he personally opposed approval because of the slapping incident.

Detroit, May 24 (AP)—Members of Local 490, United Automobile Workers (CIO), returned to their jobs at seven Chrysler Corp. plants today as officials of the local appeared at a hearing to which they had been summoned by the International union's executive board to explain an unauthorized strike.

Stockholm, May 24 (AP)—Three employees of the SKF Ballbearing Works at Goteborg have been arrested on charges of supplying information to a foreign power about the size of orders and destinations. Aftonbladet said today.

CRUCIAL STAGE IS REACHED IN ITALIAN BATTLE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Allied arms continued to smash forward today in what the communique describes as the second phase of the battle of Italy—synchroization of the offensive on the Adolf Hitler line front with the new Anzio beachhead drive which exploded suddenly yesterday like an over-ripe seed pod.

There's fierce fighting in both zones, for this is a crucial moment in the struggle for Rome and the Italian peninsula. It will determine whether Commander in Chief Sir Harold Alexander and our own General Mark Clark can make good their oaths to destroy German Field Marshal Kesselring's army. That pledge is no mere play on words, for it means literally and grimly what it means—annihilation of the enemy by death or surrender.

Three Objectives
The assault from the Anzio beachhead by the Fifth Army, under personal command of General Clark on the scene of action, puts a fresh complexion on the Italian show. As I see it, this offensive was launched with three objectives in view:

1. To cut communications behind Kesselring's main force in the Adolf Hitler line theater, and so impede his flow of supplies and reinforcements from the north.
2. To get this German army in a vise which may be tightened rapidly enough, if fortune favors us, so that the bulk of Hitler's strength in Italy may be caught and crushed.
3. To expedite the capture of Rome.

Early Successes
Thus far the Anzio offensive appears to be fulfilling expectations. Fifth Army troops have broken into strong defensive positions and already have succeeded in cutting vital German communications.

Our boys—Lord love 'em—are reported to have battled northeastward and occupied a 2,000-yard sector of the Apennine way—the famous thoroughfare which runs southward from Rome and has been one of Kesselring's main feed lines. This has brought us within half a mile of Cisterna, the heavily fortified enemy city which stands on the Apennine way. We also extended gains across the Nazi defense line on the railroad south of Velletri.

PLAN TWO-WEEK BIBLE SCHOOL

The third annual community Vacation Bible school has been planned for East Berlin young people. It will be conducted at the public school building there each morning except Saturday and Sunday, from June 5 to 16. The Rev. Snyder Alleman, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church there, will be dean of the school.

Mrs. Robert S. Lau, Mrs. Herbert Myers and Mrs. Charles L. Gentzler will conduct kindergarten classes for the youngest children. There will be three grades for older children. Grade 1, for those of 5 through 8 years, will study memory work under Mrs. Carl Fitzkee, Bible stories under Mrs. Sherman Krall, and hymns under Mrs. John Myers. Children of 9 through 11 years will enter grade 2, with Mrs. Mildred H. Eck as teacher of memory work. Mrs. Verne Y. Brandt teaching hymns, and Miss Ruth A. Deatrick conducting a picture study.

Grade 3 comprises young people from 12 through 15 years. Miss Deatrick will interpret "Christ's Teachings" for this group, with Mrs. Eck teaching Old Testament biography, and the Rev. Richard E. Shaffer, pastor of the East Berlin Evangelical and Reformed church, instructing in Christian worship.

These classes will be free and open to children of any Protestant denomination, with visitors welcome to observe sessions. In previous years the Bible school was well attended, and an equally large group is expected this year.

Cloudburst Floods Lower County Roads

A cloudburst in the southeastern section of the county washed earth from fields, inundated bridges and forced cars to stop because of inability of drivers to see about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Roads between Gettysburg and Littlestown and from Bonneauville to Littlestown were covered in sections with dirt washed from fields adjoining the highways, travelers reported today. A number of drivers were forced to stop to await the end of the rain. About a mile south of White Hall on the Littlestown road water was flowing across the road fender deep. Hail was observed near Bonneauville for a few minutes at the start of the storm.

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee approved today post-war construction of a $38,000,000 canal from Rochester, Pa., to Struthers, Ohio, to link the Youngstown-Warren steel mill district with the Ohio river.

LIST HOLIDAY AT BREWSTER

New York, May 24 (AP)—Nearly 5,000 of the 7,000 union employees at the five Long Island City plants of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation today began a "three-day holiday" in anticipation of their lay-off Monday because of termination of Navy contracts July 1.

The holiday was explained by Marco Cicala, vice president of Local 365 of the United Automobile Workers of America, as an interval during which company and union officials will decide on lay-off lists and compute payroll accounts.

Remaining on their jobs, Cicala said, were about 1,200 workers engaged on "hot items and bottle necks." He advised all employees to return to work on Monday, when he said announcement will be made of the names of those laid off.

Meanwhile everything possible is being done to prevent a mass lay-off. Zeus Soucek, a vice president and director of the corporation, said today. He added the plants practically were closed down.

Italians Fear Rome May Be Damaged

Bern, Switzerland, May 24 (AP)—Italians fear that the Germans may defend Rome, turning it into a battle city, a Vatican official quoted by La Suisse de Geneva said today, and hunger is increasing in the capital.

There is no longer any railroad traffic in Rome, for all stations even in the suburbs have been smashed, the report said, and Rome virtually has been cut off from the rest of Italy.

Good quality hay contains about two-thirds as many digestible nutrients as grain or feed mixtures.

A new electro-chemical process is reported able to recondition worn out metal files to 90 per cent of their original efficiency.

Wedding

Wildegans-Higbee

Miss Helen Kilmer Higbee, daughter of Mrs. E. Lewis Higbee, and the late Rev. Mr. Higbee, of Emmitsburg, was married to Tech. Sgt. Gustaf Wildegans, U. S. Army, by Rev. Edmund Welker, pastor of the bride, in the Emmitsburg Evangelical Reformed church, on Sunday at 2 p. m.

There were no attendants but many friends were present. The bride's mother played the traditional wedding marches as well as several favorite organ numbers preceding the ceremony.

The bride wore an aqua blue, two-piece dress with white accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was an orchid. Friends gathered informally at the bride's home after the ceremony, following which the couple left for a brief wedding trip to New England. On their return the groom will return to his military post and the bride will continue her work at Camp Detrick in Frederick.

DEATHS

John Welty Cable, Jr.

John Welty Cable, Jr., lifelong Washington county resident, died at 8:25 a. m. Tuesday at his home at Chewsville, Maryland, after an illness of 21 months.

He was born near Smithsburg on September 25, 1877, the son of John Welty and Mary (Martin) Cable. He attended Gettysburg and Franklin and Marshall colleges and for many years was associated with the Hagerstown Trust company. He was a member of St. Mark's Lutheran church, Hagerstown.

Retail Stores Must Check Group Rating

All retail food stores must, by May 25, 1944, redetermine their proper group classification on the basis of gross sales volume for the calendar year 1943, the OPA said today.

At present, these stores are classified, according to their sales volume in 1942, in one of four groups and each group is provided with specific mark-ups to be used in setting its ceiling prices for major "dry groceries" and perishable foods. The redetermination is required, OPA said, so that all stores will be properly grouped on as nearly a current basis as possible.

If the 1943 gross sales of a particular store have not changed enough to cause that store to fall into a new group, then the store or its method of calculating its ceilings. If, however, the gross sales in 1943 were so much greater or lower than 1942 volume that the store falls into a new group, that store must, after June 15, 1944, use the mark-ups provided for its proper group in computing its ceiling prices.

Announce Special Gasoline Rations

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration ruled today that office workers, businessmen and others volunteering for spare-time work on farms and in food processing may receive special gasoline rations.

HOW SIMPLIFIED TAX PLAN WILL AFFECT PUBLIC

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Here's a check list on how you'll be affected by the income tax simplification plan just approved by Congress.

1. What will it cost?
If you're single, or married but childless, simplification may cost you something. For a single person of average means, this may run up to an additional $15 for the year. For an average childless couple, it may run around $50.

However, this may be offset in many cases by the new standard deduction of 10 per cent of income (or $500 on income of more than $5,000).

Couples with one child will come out about the same, aside from the deduction possibilities. Those with more than one dependent will find their taxes somewhat smaller. The new definition of dependency will help some taxpayers: You can count any close relative, regardless of age, dependent for more than half his support during the year (provided he doesn't have more than $500 of income).

Requirements This Year

2. What must you do about the tax this year?

If you're paying on a declaration of estimated 1944 tax, you must complete the remaining payments in June, September and December. You won't be penalized for underestimating if the error results from the change in the law. You may revise your estimate as late as next January 15.

If you're covered by withholding of taxes from your pay, you can wait until next March for the news—good or bad.

Remember that the other half of the uncollected portion of 1942-43 taxes comes due next March.

The higher withholding rates, extending pay-as-you-go to cover income up to $5,000, will go into effect January 1.

Some Must Estimate

3. What about tax blanks?

For persons on wage or salaries up to $5,000, with less than $100 of other income, the plan will permit sending in the form provided by the employer showing the amount of earnings and how much was taken out for taxes. The tax collector then will figure the tax, send a bill for any balance, or make a refund if one is due.

Taxpayers who aren't on regular wages or salaries, or who have more than $100 of additional income, or who make more than $5,000, still will have to make yearly estimates (in March) and pay on them quarterly during the year. They also will have to file regular final tax returns which should be a lot simpler than in the past.

Note: Working married couples no longer will be able to pick and choose in splitting their exemptions. Hereafter, on a joint return the surtax exemption will be $1,000; on separate returns, $500 each.

Optional Provisions

4. What if you want to figure your own tax?

You're welcome to do so. That part of simplification under which the collector may figure the tax is strictly optional.

Furthermore, the standard deduction is optional. If your deductions for charity, contributions, taxes and interest total more than 10 per cent of your income, you can get the benefit by listing them on a regular tax blank.

5. What if your status changes during the year?
If you have a child at any time up to the last minute of Dec. 31, that counts for the whole year. This could result in a lot of refunds.

Also, if your wife or a dependent dies during the year, the exemption holds for the entire year.

Marital status otherwise is determined as of Dec. 31.

MAN BURNED IN ERIE FIRE

Eric, Pa., May 24 (AP)—One man was burned to death and a building housing a general store, post office and lodge hall was leveled by flames when two trucks collided at an intersection in Fairview, 15 miles west of here, this morning and one, loaded with drums of oil and turpentine, exploded.

Robert F. Reed of Akron, O., (age unknown) was burned to death when trapped in the cab of his truck, Donald A. Thomas, 25, of Buffalo, N. Y., driver of the truck that exploded, was uninjured and attempted unsuccessfully to rescue Reed, officers said.

Several families were forced to evacuate nearby homes as flaming oil and turpentine ran down the street. Firemen from five companies prevented damage to the houses.

State police said the trucks careened into the side of the frame building, showering it with flaming oil. They estimated total damage at more than $25,000.

FINED $1,000

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—Kenneth Davis, Erie, Pa., meat dealer, was fined $1,000 by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker today when he pleaded guilty to selling meat without obtaining ration points for it.

PLAN MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR FINAL P-T MEETING

A musical program under the direction of Prof. Charles L. Yost will be presented to the closing meeting of the Biglerville Parent-Teachers' association Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Vocal and instrumental selections from each musical group in the entire music department will be included. Features of the program will be selections by an Elementary chorus of 65 voices and by a Junior high school chorus of 120 voices.

Following is the program: 1st and 2nd grade chorus, "Don't Give Up," "May's Coming," "The Little Girl and the Robin" and "Candy Shop"; 3rd and 4th, 5th and 6th grade chorus, "When Spring Sends the Flowers" and "A Song of Summer"; Junior high school chorus, "I Hear America Singing" and "Marines Hymn"; high school girls' chorus, "In the Time of Roses" and "Going A-Maying"; high school boys' chorus, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and "Marianne"; high school mixed chorus, "Morning," "Morning Invitation," "Adoramus Te" and "Navy Hymn"; high school band, "Manhattan Beach March," "Around the Campfire," "Campus Memories" and "Officer of Day March" and instrumental duet by Leo Kleinfelter and Tom Yost.

The closing dance of the year will be held at the Biglerville high school auditorium Saturday evening. The dance, which will be semi-formal, is being sponsored by the Student Council.

Miss Louise Hemphill, Newville, recently elected to teach English and to take charge of the Biglerville high school library, visited the school Tuesday. Miss Hemphill is a member of the graduating class at Millersville State Teachers' college.

Mrs. C. B. Lindtved, of Carlisle, and her son, John G. Lindtved, of Harrisburg, were over-night guests Tuesday of Mrs. William Wentzel, of Biglerville.

Mrs. S. Gray Bigham, of Biglerville, is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Urwin Rowntree, of Washington, D. C., this week.

Miss Doris Cluck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cluck, of Aspers, who is a patient at the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia, will undergo a major operation Thursday.

Nellie E. Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Gardner, York Springs, and Margaret E. Wentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory E. Wentz, Biglerville R. 2, will be among the class of 26 to be graduated May 29 at Shippensburg State Teachers' college.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ambrose Sell of Biglerville, have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mildred Elizabeth Sell, and William David Goble, on Saturday evening, June 3, at 7 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville.

Miss Sell is a member of the faculty of Biglerville high school.

Tanker Explosion Kills Worker Today

Bayonne, N. J., May 24 (AP)—At least one workman was killed and ten injured, two of them seriously, in a violent explosion today on an oil tanker under repair at the East Coast Shipyards, Inc.

The dead man was identified by police as Antonio Ioffredo, 40, of Bayonne. Police said he was blown off the boat and landed on the dock as the explosion occurred in an empty tank about 9 a. m.

The blast could be heard over a large section of the city.

The boat opened at the seams in places and started to list, police reported.

An estimated 40 to 50 men were at work on the boat at the time of the explosion.

Says Theological Students Deferred

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Walton H. Greever, secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America, told the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania in session here today that revised draft laws now assure an adequate supply of theological students.

Doctor Greever cited Selective Service's reversal of a ruling that pre-theological students not under the care of a seminary are subject to induction. This reversal, he said, caused the Lutheran Theological seminary at Mt. Airy to abandon plans for an academic course for such students.

Establishment of Lutheran service centers outside the continental United States was announced by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Long, director of the National Lutheran council, who said two such centers are now in operation in Alaska and requests for others have been received from England, Iceland, India and other parts of the world.

Doctor Long, in a report on the Lutheran Commission on Service With War Prisoners, said the church can contribute to establishment of permanent peace by substituting in the minds of enemy prisoners the democracy of Christianity for the worship and exaltation of nation.

Mother Bears Four Children In Year

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Haughton, 34, has become the mother of her fourth child within one year with the birth of girl triplets in Memorial hospital.

A son was born to Mrs. Haughton, wife of a 38-year-old machinist, 11 months ago. The couple has been married eight years and has two other boys, 4 and 2.

The triplets, who weighed 2 pounds, 1 ounce; 3 pounds, 6 ounces and 4 pounds, 5 ounces at birth Monday night, have been placed in incubators and "are doing fine," hospital attendants said today.

The Library of Congress had 964 books when it opened in 1802.

Hot Weather Is New Strike Cause

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—A new "hot weather strike" started in one war plant here today at about the same time another ended.

About 400 employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. Micarta plant walked out in protest against what they termed "too warm drinking water." Company officials said the water cooling system had been undergoing repairs.

It was cooler in the shell forge department of the Pressed Steel Car Company today, so some 75 workers who went on strike Monday night "because it was too hot" returned to their jobs. Plant engineers, meanwhile, had provided more ventilation.

Pastor's Secretary Is Fatally Stabbed

Detroit, May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Long, secretary to the pastor of the Twelfth Street Evangelical church, was found stabbed to death in the church today.

Police said that the pastor, the Rev. N. C. Liesemer, reported discovering the body at 9 a. m. There were several stab wounds in her body, police said.

Mrs. Long, who was about 40 years old, was reported last seen leaving the home of Rev. Liesemer at 8:30 p. m. yesterday.

SPENT $457.12
Assemblyman Francis Worley, Latimore township, spent $457.12 during his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for that office during the recent primaries, according to his account filed this morning with the county election board. More than one-half of the sum was spent for advertising while the remainder went to people hauling voters to the polls.

CANCEL SERVICE
There will be no prayer service at St. James Lutheran church this evening due to the Rev. R. R. Gresh being in Harrisburg attending sessions of the Central Pennsylvania Synod convention.

CRUCIAL STAGE IS REACHED IN ITALIAN BATTLE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst)

Allied arms continued to smash forward today in what the communique describes as the second phase of the battle of Italy—synchroization of the offensive on the Adolf Hitler line front with the new Anzio beachhead drive which exploded suddenly yesterday like an over-ripe seed pod.

There's fierce fighting in both zones, for this is a crucial moment in the struggle for Rome and the Italian peninsula. It will determine whether Commander in chief Sir Harold Alexander and our own General Mark Clark can make good their oaths to destroy German Field Marshal Kesselring's army. That pledge is no mere play on words, for it means literally and grimly what it says—annihilation of the enemy by death or surrender.

Three Objectives

The assault from the Anzio beachhead by the Fifth Army, under personal command of General Clark on the scene of action, puts a fresh complexion on the Italian show. As I see it, this offensive was launched with three objectives in view:

1. To cut communications behind Kesselring's main force in the Adolf Hitler line theater, and so impede his flow of supplies and reinforcements from the north.
2. To get this German army in a vise which may be tightened rapidly enough, if fortune favors us, so that the bulk of Hitler's strength in Italy may be caught and crushed.
3. To expedite the capture of Rome.

Early Successes

Thus far the Anzio offensive appears to be fulfilling expectations. Fifth Army troops have broken into strong defensive positions and already have succeeded in cutting vital German communications.

Our boys—Lord love 'em—are reported to have battled northeastward and occupied a 2,000-yard sector of the Apennine way—the famous thoroughfare which runs southward from Rome and has been one of Kesselring's main feed lines. This has brought us within half a mile of Cisterna, the heavily fortified enemy city which stands on the Apennine way. We also extended gains across the Nazi defense line on the railroad south of Velletri.

PLAN TWO-WEEK BIBLE SCHOOL

The third annual community Vacation Bible school has been planned for East Berlin young people. It will be conducted at the public school building there each morning except Saturday and Sunday, from June 5 to 16. The Rev. Snyder Allen, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church there, will be dean of the school.

Mrs. Robert S. Lau, Mrs. Herbert Myers and Mrs. Charles L. Gentzler will conduct kindergarten classes for the youngest children. There will be three grades for older children. Grade 1, for those of 5 through 8 years, will study memory work under Mrs. Carl Fitzkee, Bible stories under Mrs. Sherman Krall, and hymns under Mrs. John Myers. Children of 9 through 11 years will enter grade 2, with Mrs. Mildred H. Eck as teacher of memory work. Mrs. Verne Y. Brandt teaches hymns, and Miss Ruth A. Deatrick conducting a picture study.

Grade 3 comprises young people from 12 through 15 years. Miss Deatrick will interpret "Christ's Teachings" for this group, with Mrs. Eck teaching Old Testament biography, and the Rev. Richard E. Shaffer, pastor of the East Berlin Evangelical and Reformed church, instructing in Christian worship.

These classes will be free and open to children of any Protestant denomination, with visitors welcome to observe sessions. In previous years the Bible school was well attended, and an equally large group is expected this year.

Cloudburst Floods Lower County Roads

A cloudburst in the southeastern section of the county washed earth from fields, inundated bridges and forced cars to stop because of inability of drivers to see about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Roads between Gettysburg and Littlestown and from Bonneauville to Littlestown were covered in sections with dirt washed from fields adjoining the highways, travelers reported today. A number of drivers were forced to stop to await the end of the rain. About a mile south of White Hall on the Littlestown road water was flowing across the road fender deep. Hall was observed near Bonneauville for a few minutes at the start of the storm.

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee approved today post-war construction of a $38,000,000 canal from Rochester, Pa., to Struthers, Ohio, to link the Youngstown-Warren steel mill district with the Ohio river.

LIST HOLIDAY AT BREWSTER

New York, May 24 (AP)—Nearly 5,000 of the 7,300 union employees at the five Long Island City plants of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation today began a "three-day holiday" in anticipation of their lay-off Monday because of termination of Navy contracts July 1.

The holiday was explained by Marco Cicala, vice president of Local 365 of the United Automobile Workers of America, as an interval during which company and union officials will decide on lay-off lists and compute payroll accounts.

Remaining on their jobs, Cicala said, were about 1,200 workers engaged on "hot items and bottle necks." He advised all employees to return to work on Monday, when he said announcement will be made of the names of those laid off.

Meanwhile everything possible is being done to prevent a mass lay-off, Zeis Soucek, a vice president and director of the corporation, said today. He added the plants practically were closed down.

Retail Stores Must Check Group Rating

All retail food stores must, by May 25, 1944, redetermine their proper group classification on the basis of gross sales volume for the calendar year 1943, the OPA said today.

At present, these stores are classified, according to their sales volume in 1942, in one of four groups and each group is provided with specific mark-ups to be used in setting its ceiling prices for major "dry groceries" and perishable foods. The redetermination is required, OPA said, so that all stores will be properly grouped on as nearly a current basis as possible.

If the 1943 gross sales of a particular store have not changed enough to cause that store to fall into a new group, then the store or its method of calculating its ceilings. If, however, the gross sales in 1943 were so much greater or lower than 1942 volume that the store falls into a new group, that store must, after June 15, 1944, use the mark-ups provided for its proper group in computing its ceiling prices.

4. What if you want to figure your own tax? You're welcome to do so. That part of simplification under which the collector may figure the tax is strictly optional.

Furthermore, the standard deduction is optional. If your deductions for charity, contributions, taxes and interest total more than 10 per cent of your income, you can get the benefit by listing them on a regular tax blank.

5. What if your status changes during the year? If you have a child at any time up to the last minute of Dec. 31, that counts for the whole year. This could result in a lot of refunds.

Also, if your wife or a dependent dies during the year, the exemption holds for the entire year.

Marital status otherwise is determined as of Dec. 31.

MAN BURNED IN ERIE FIRE

Erie, Pa., May 24 (AP)—One man was burned to death and a building housing a general store, post office and lodge hall was leveled by flames when two trucks collided at an intersection in Fairview, 15 miles west of here, this morning and one, loaded with drums of oil and turpentine, exploded.

Robert P. Reed of Akron, O., (age unknown) was burned to death when trapped in the cab of his truck. Donald A. Thomas, 25, of Buffalo, N. Y., driver of the truck that exploded, was uninjured and attempted unsuccessfully to rescue Reed, officers said.

Several families were forced to evacuate nearby homes as flaming oil and turpentine ran down the street. Firemen from five companies prevented damage to the houses.

State police said the trucks careened into the side of the frame building, showering it with flaming oil. They estimated total damage at more than $25,000.

FINED $1,000

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—Kenneth Davis, Erie, Pa., meat dealer, was fined $1,000 by Federal Judge P. P. Schoonmaker today when he pleaded guilty to selling meat without obtaining ration points for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ambrose Sell, of Biglerville, have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mildred Elizabeth Sell, and William David Goble, on Saturday evening, June 3, at 7 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville.

Miss Sell is a member of the faculty of Biglerville high school.

Tanker Explosion Kills Worker Today

Bayonne, N. J., May 24 (AP)—At least one workman was killed and ten injured, two of them seriously, in a violent explosion today on an oil tanker under repair at the East Coast Shipyards, Inc.

The dead man was identified by police as Antonio Ioffredo, 40, of Bayonne. Police said he was blown off the boat and landed on the dock as the explosion occurred in an empty tank about 9 a. m.

The blast could be heard over a large section of the city.

The boat opened at the seams in places and started to list, police reported.

An estimated 40 to 50 men were at work on the boat at the time of the explosion.

Says Theological Students Deferred

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Walton H. Greever, secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America, told the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania in session here today that revised draft of theological students.

Doctor Greever cited Selective Service's reversal of a ruling that pre-theological students not under the care of a seminary are subject to induction. This reversal, he said, caused the Lutheran Theological seminary at Mt. Airy to abandon plans for an academic course for such students.

Establishment of Lutheran service centers outside the continental United States was announced by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Long, director of the National Lutheran council, who said two such centers are now in operation in Alaska and requests for others have been received from England, Iceland, India and other parts of the world.

Doctor Long, in a report on the Lutheran Commission on Service With War Prisoners, said the church can contribute to establishment of permanent peace by substituting the minds of enemy prisoners the democracy of Christianity for the worship and exaltation of nation.

Arendtsville

Mrs. Margaret Lott, who had been in the Warner hospital for several weeks suffering from a broken leg, is now at the home of Donald Boyer, where she will spend some time.

This evening the congregation of the Trinity Lutheran church will hold a social in the Sunday school rooms. A program has been arranged and Judge Clarence Sheely will make the address.

A. I. Weidner is reported ill at his home in town. He is reported to be somewhat improved.

The Misses Patty and Connie Redding have been spending some time with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Myers.

Eugene Currens, who has been in the employ of E. D. Bushman for some time has accepted a mechanical position with the Warren Garage company here.

Mrs. Edwin Schlosser is reported ill at her home here.

Boy Scouts of the Arendtsville area will make a general collection of all forms of scrap salvage on Thursday beginning at 1 o'clock.

News Briefs

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Jubilant over the unity with which Congress put on President Roosevelt's desk a bill streamlining tax procedures for 50,000,000 individuals, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee said today "our next big tax job is to simplify corporation taxes."

Mother Bears Four Children In Year

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Arthur Haughton, 34, has become the mother of her fourth child within one year with the birth of girl triplets in Memorial hospital.

A son was born to Mrs. Haughton, wife of a 38-year-old machinist, 11 months ago. The couple has been married eight years and has two other boys, 4 and 2.

The triplets, who weighed 2 pounds, 1 ounce; 3 pounds, 6 ounces and 4 pounds, 5 ounces at birth Monday night, have been placed in incubators and "are doing fine," hospital attendants said today.

The Library of Congress had 964 books when it opened in 1802.

Hot Weather Is New Strike Cause

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—A new "hot weather strike" started in one war plant here today at about the same time another ended.

About 400 employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. Micarta plant walked out in protest against what they termed "too warm drinking water." Company officials said the water cooling system had been undergoing repairs.

It was cooler in the shell forge department of the Pressed Steel Car Company today, so some 75 workers who went on strike Monday night "because it was too hot" returned to their jobs. Plant engineers, meanwhile, had provided more ventilation.

Pastor's Secretary Is Fatally Stabbed

Detroit, May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Long, secretary to the pastor of the Twelfth Street Evangelical church, was found stabbed to death in the church today.

Police said that the pastor, the Rev. N. C. Liesemer, reported discovering the body at 9 a. m. There were several stab wounds in her body, police said.

Mrs. Long, who was about 40 years old, was reported last seen leaving the home of Rev. Liesemer at 8:30 p. m. yesterday.

SPENT $457.12

Assemblyman Francis Worley, Latimore township, spent $457.12 during his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for that office during the recent primaries, according to his account filed this morning with the county election board. More than one-half of the sum was spent for advertising while the remainder went to people hauling voters to the polls.

CANCEL SERVICE

There will be no prayer service at St. James Lutheran church this evening due to the Rev. R. R. Gresh being in Harrisburg attending sessions of the Central Pennsylvania Synod convention.

CARDS MANAGER SUPPORTS FULL NIGHT SCHEDULE

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Every-night-baseball found a supporter in Manager Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals today as the majors started their second inter-sectional series.

Remark on last night's turnout of 22,145 at Brooklyn and the consistently high attendance at Washington's after dark games, Billy observed:

"It is a matter for the league heads and directors but if they change their policy and play every night in all the parks it will be okay with me and my players. If more people can enjoy the games at night in this war year, the least we can do is to play the game. An every-night diet would be easier on the boys than this on-and-off routine that scrambles our meal schedules."

Under present regulations, the two St. Louis teams each play 21 night games and the other clubs with lights each play 14 except Washington which was granted permission to play all home dates during dark except Sundays and holidays from May 10 to September 17.

Dodgers Winners
Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants probably would prefer to forget night games after last night's experience when a collision between Johnny Rucker and Charley Mead, causing Rucker to drop an easy fly ball, cost him a ball game 3-2.

There were two out in the last of the ninth and the Giants had a one-run lead when the blow fell. Bill Voiselle had pitched himself in and out of trouble all night but had started to walk off the hill to mark down another win in his record book when Rucker dropped the ball. Les Webber, who replaced Rube Melton in the seventh got credit for his first win of the year and the Giants aren't sure yet what happened.

The Brooklyn spectacle was the only big league game scheduled but all 16 clubs swung into action today in the National League's eastern cities and the American's western half.

Aside from admitting that Pittsburgh and Cincinnati look like the toughest opposition the Card skipper shunned pennant talk, pointing out that he stands to lose Stan Musial, Danny Litwhiler, George Munger and Harry Gumbert and the other clubs likewise will be weakened.

New York, May 24 (AP)—The Jackson, Mich., baseball school for kids will wind up tomorrow with a program that was rained out earlier this month and postponed until the Tigers finished their eastern trip. . . . The co-operative venture of the Detroit club, the Jackson Booster club and Recreation Director Cliff Weatherwax was so successful that several other Michigan cities are planning to copy it. . . . Battle Creek will hold a school in June and Kalamazoo will operate next year. . . . This Dept. will sketch the idea just in case any one else is interested.

FAIR WARNING
In announcing the New York World-Telegram's annual contest to select the most valuable player in local schoolboy baseball circles, and reward him with a trip with Yankees, Giants or Dodgers, Scribe Bill Roeder wrote: "We accept no responsibility if our man is forced to play out the season with the club of his selection."

ARENDSVILLE, BIGLER IN TIE

The Biglerville and Arendtsville high school baseball teams battled to a 1-1 tie in a game played Tuesday afternoon at Arendtsville before rain halted the tilt with one out in the last half of the seventh inning. An effort will be made to replay the game.

Twice the game was halted by showers but a downpour in the final frame forced the cancellation.

Arendtsville tabbed its lone run in the first inning with Biglerville tying up the count with a tally in the sixth.

Lady permitted the Apple Pickers but one hit while Biglerville secured five off Paul Fissel.

PLAYER LISTS ARE REVISED

(By The Associated Press)
All Eastern league games were rained out last night, but front office staffs kept busy revising player rosters.

Three new players were signed by the second place Wilkes-Barre Barons. They include Charles Price, outfielder; Jefferson Towery, right-handed pitcher, and Ken Blackman, catcher. Towery was obtained from Memphis on option.

Bob Madson, a pitcher, was sent by the Barons to Batavia of the Pony league on option.

The Williamsport Grays obtained Rogelio Valdes, third string catcher of the Washington Senators on option. The Utica Braves acquired Bill Aniske on option from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Binghamton's Triplets, expecting aid from Newark and Kansas City, released three players to Norfolk of the Piedmont league. They were Pitches Ray Flannigan, right-hander, and Ted Fienning, left-hander, and outfielder Joe McQuillen.

League President Thomas H. Richardson has suggested that all games scheduled on D-Day be called off and the players attend church services. He urged that play cease immediately if games are in progress when the invasion announcement comes.

SPORT SHORTS

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—From somewhere in North African waters the Phillies received from Warrant Officer Bill Gold a 100-franc note with the request that they see to it that Gold's 12-year-old son, Don, receives tickets for any home game with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Chicago, May 24 (AP)—Here's a baseball game that gets a vote as a "freak" contest.
The Kelly high school team scored 12 runs in the first inning in yesterday's encounter against Phillips and then added 16 more in the second frame.

That was enough runs, Kelly's coach decided, so the Kelly players didn't bat any more. Phillips managed to get one run across before Kelly retired 15 men and the game ended, 28-1.

OFFICER ENTERS INSANITY PLEA

Camp Anza, Calif., May 24 (AP)—The government lashed back today at the claim of Lt. Beaufort C. Swancutt that he was insane when four persons were slain during and following a dance at the Camp Anza officers' club the night of March 5.

As the sanity issue in the court martial neared conclusion, Trial Judge Capt. Charles A. Thomas summoned three high ranking Army officers, comprising the medical board that examined Swancutt Mar. 29, to refute testimony of neurologists and psychiatrists for the accused.

The shooting of Dorothy Douglas and Lourine Livermore, both 19, took place in the officer's club. Capt. Aubrey G. Serfling, Swancutt's superior officer, was fatally wounded in his quarters a few minutes later. Policeman Arthur B. Simpson was killed subsequently in nearby Arlington when the government charges. Swancutt resisted arrest.

Yesterday, Swancutt's mother, Caroline; his sister, Mrs. Beatrice Wright, and his wife and mother of his two sons, Mrs. Gertrude Swancutt, recounted incidents which they testified indicated that "Boots," as he was known to them, was subject to periods of irrational behavior.

Acquittal Refutes Charges, Says Perry

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—The president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, believes the verdict of acquittal by a U. S. District court jury in the trial of the corporation "completely refutes" the "unsubstantiated accusations" which he said the Senate Truman committee made against the United States Steel subsidiary.

In a statement commenting on yesterday's verdict by the Federal jury after a three-week trial, the official, J. Lester Perry, said:

"We are happy to have the public know that the unfair and unsubstantiated accusations made by the Truman committee of the delivery by Carnegie-Illinois of defective plates have been completely refuted."

Charges that the corporation destroyed or falsified records pertaining to tests on steel ship plate for the government grew out of hearings conducted last year by the Truman committee.

Panic Kills Four In Dance Hall Blaze

Hamilton, Ont., May 24 (AP)—A flash fire swept through a crowded dance hall early today, killing four persons and injuring 37, nine critically.

Most of the 70 persons attending the dance in Moose hall jumped or were crowded from second story windows.

"They came out all in flames, like torches," a witness said.

They were attending a staff party of the Royal Oak Dairy.

The dead, all of Hamilton, were listed as: Mrs. Roy Martin, 36; William Cleland, 40; Mrs. Anne Whitley, 41, and James Numbers, 39.

Paraquatin, a new volcano 200 miles west of Mexico City, rose from a cornfield to a height of a thousand feet and is the first whose entire life has been recorded scientifically.

"A" MOTORISTS MAY GET SOME TIRES BY FALL

Washington, May 24 (AP)—New tires may start rolling this fall to "A" card automobile drivers whose hopes and dreams have been wearing thin together.

First, Charles F. Phillips, the OPA's new chief of rationing, said in an interview today that "A" card drivers can expect their first new tires since the start of the war when monthly allocations of synthetic rubbers climb to 2,000,000 from the may quota of 1,400,000.

And, from the Office of the Rubber Director, where the allocations are set, it was learned that production of passenger car tires probably will reach the 2,000,000 mark sometime in October, November or December.

Apply Through Ration Boards
As for gasoline, Phillips said there was "nothing to indicate" that the "A" ration can be increased during the present quarter, ending July 1, and that any boost in the third quarter will be dependent on allocations from the petroleum administration for war.

He said a study of whether it will be possible to increase the "B" ration this quarter has not been completed.

Phillips stressed that not all "A" card motorists will be able to obtain new tires this year. Applications will be screened by local rationing boards and certificates will go first to those whose driving is considered most essential.

Seek "B" Increase
He said it probably would take three or four months to meet the demand of all "A" motorists. All "B" and "C" card drivers, Phillips pointed out, have been eligible for new tires since May 1, but it is expected there will be a backlog of applications until at least August.

Phillips said his first aim with regard to gasoline is to increase the "B" ration in the east from the present maximum of 325 miles of driving a month to 475 miles.

FILE MURDER CHARGE
Greensburg, Pa., May 24 (AP)—A murder charge has been filed against Joseph Levensky, 45, of Jeannette, whose wife, Agnes, 28, died on May 15 of injuries which a coroner's jury said she received after visiting a taproom with him.

GET $10 RAISES
Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—Cost-of-living salary increases of $10 a month, effective as of Feb. 1, were granted by the board of education yesterday to about 250 teachers and other city school employees who since Jan. 1, 1941, had received no such boost in pay.

Says Burma Road Link Is Crucial
Salt Lake City, May 24 (AP)—Japan can be defeated within 18 months after Germany is knocked out of the war—if the Japanese do not take Chungking and wind up their Chinese campaign—Preston Grover, chief of the Associated Press bureau in the far eastern war theatre, believes.

Grover, back in this country for a visit, told the Salt Lake City Rotary club yesterday that Allied operations are progressing favorably in North Burma and predicted that the Lido Road would be joined to a portion of the Burma road within the next few months.

"The one big question," he said, "is whether the road will be opened soon enough to prevent possible conquest of the remainder of China."

CARDS MANAGER SUPPORTS FULL NIGHT SCHEDULE

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Every-night-baseball found a supporter in Manager Billy Southworth of the St. Louis Cardinals today as the majors started their second inter-seasonal series.

Remarking on last night's turnout of 22,145 at Brooklyn and the consistently high attendance at Washington's after dark games, Billy observed:

"It is a matter for the league heads and directors but if they change their policy and play every night in all the parks it will be okay with me and my players. If more people can enjoy the games at night in this war year, the least we can do is to play the game. An every-night diet would be easier on the boys than this on-and-off routine that scrambles our meal schedules."

Under present regulations, the two St. Louis teams each play 21 night games and the other clubs with lights each play 14 except Washington which was granted permission to play all home dates after dark except Sundays and holidays from May 10 to September 17.

Dodgers Winners
Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants probably would prefer to forget night games after last night's experience when a collision between Johnny Rucker and Charley Mead, causing Rucker to drop an easy fly ball, cost him a ball game 3-2. There were two out in the last of the ninth and the Giants had a one-run lead when the blow fell.

Bill Voiselle had pitched himself in and out of trouble all night but had started to walk off the hill to mark down another win in his record book when Rucker dropped the ball. Les Webber, who replaced Rube Melton in the seventh got credit for his first win of the year and the Giants aren't sure yet what happened.

The Brooklyn spectacle was the only big league game scheduled but all 16 clubs swung into action today in the National League's eastern cities and the American's western half.

Aside from admitting that Pittsburgh and Cincinnati look like the toughest opposition the Card skipper shunned pennant talk, pointing out that he stands to lose Stan Musial, Danny Litwiler, George Munger and Harry Gumbert and the other clubs likewise will be weakened.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 24 (AP)

The boys with the bulging biceps and the bodies beautiful are due Saturday to settle the National Senior AAU Weight Lifting titles and to name a muscular "Mr. America."

It will be the first time the barbell experts have come south to pick their champions, National AAU Vice Chairman Leon Green of Chattanooga said today.

Some 40 or more entries are entered in the contests, Green said. Approximately half service men, ranging in rank from private to Captain.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, May 24 (AP)—The

Jackson, Mich., baseball school for kids will wind up tomorrow with a program that was rained out earlier this month and postponed until the Tigers finished their eastern trip.

The co-operative venture of the Detroit club, the Jackson Booster club and Recreation Director Cliff Weatherwax was so successful that several other Michigan cities are planning to copy it.

Battle Creek will hold a school in June and Kalamazoo will operate next year. This Dept. will sketch the idea just in case anyone else is interested.

FAIR WARNING

In announcing the New York World-Telegram's annual contest to select the most valuable player in local schoolboy baseball circles, and reward him with a trip with Yankees, Giants or Dodgers, Scribe Bill Roeder wrote: "We accept no responsibility if our man is forced to play out the season with the club of his selection."

When a pitcher buzzed one under his chin his first time at bat in the big leagues, Danny asked: "Are they afraid of me already?" You can't bench a guy like that, especially when he hit .375 on the club's western tour.

ARENDSVILLE, BIGLER IN TIE

The Biglerville and Arendtsville high school baseball teams battled to a 1-1 tie in a game played Tuesday afternoon at Arendtsville before rain halted the tilt with one out in the last half of the seventh inning. An effort will be made to replay the game.

Twice the game was halted by showers but a downpour in the final frame forced the cancellation.

Arendtsville tabbed its lone run in the first inning with Biglerville tying up the count with a tally in the sixth.

Lady permitted the Apple Pickers but one hit while Biglerville secured five off Paul Fissel.

PLAYER LISTS ARE REVISED

(By The Associated Press)

All Eastern league games were rained out last night, but front office staffs kept busy revising player rosters.

Three new players were signed by the second place Wilkes-Barre Barons. They include Charles Price, outfielder; Jefferson Towery, right-handed pitcher, and Ken Blackman, catcher. Towery was obtained from Memphis on option.

Bob Madsen, a pitcher, was sent by the Barons to Batavia of the Pony league on option.

The Williamsport Grays obtained Rogelio Valdes, third string catcher of the Washington Senators on option. The Utica Braves acquired Bill Anske on option from the Philadelphia Phillies.

Binghamton's Triplets, expecting aid from Newark and Kansas City, released three players to Norfolk of the Piedmont league. They were Pitchers Ray Flannigan, right-hander, and Ted Plennig, left-hander, and outfielder Joe McQuillen.

League President Thomas H. Richardson has suggested that all games scheduled on D-Day be called off and the players attend church services. He urged that play cease immediately if games are in progress when the invasion announcement comes.

SPORT SHORTS

Philadelphia, May 24 (AP)—

From somewhere in North African waters the Phillies received from Warrant Officer Bill Gold a 100-franc note with the request that they see to it that Gold's 12-year-old son, Don, receives tickets for any home game with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Chicago, May 24 (AP)—Here's a baseball game that gets a vote as a "freak" contest.

The Kelly high school team scored 12 runs in the first inning in yesterday's encounter against Phillips and then added 16 more in the second frame.

That was enough runs, Kelly's coach decided, so the Kelly players didn't bat any more. Phillips managed to get one run across before Kelly retired 15 men and the game ended, 28-1.

Rain Interrupts Inter-Class Meet

Rain interrupted the annual inter-class track meet at Gettysburg high school Tuesday afternoon, the sophomore class team leading with the broad jump, high jump and half-mile relay events remaining to be held.

OFFICER ENTERS INSANITY PLEA

Camp Anza, Calif., May 24 (AP)—

The government lashed back today at the claim of Lt. Beaufort G. Swancutt that he was insane when four persons were slain during and following a dance at the Camp Anza officers' club the night of March 5.

As the sanity issue in the court martial neared conclusion, Trial Judge Capt. Charles A. Thomas summoned three high ranking Army officers, comprising the medical board that examined Swancutt Mar. 29, to refute testimony of neurologists and psychiatrists for the accused.

The shooting of Dorothy Douglas and Louridine Livermore, both 19, took place in the officer's club. Capt. Aubrey G. Serfing, Swancutt's superior officer, was fatally wounded in his quarters a few minutes later. Policeman Arthur B. Simpson was killed subsequently in nearby Arlington when the government charges, Swancutt resisted arrest.

Yesterday, Swancutt's mother, Caroline; his sister, Mrs. Beatrice Wright, and his wife and mother of his two sons, Mrs. Gertrude Swancutt, recounted incidents which they testified indicated that "Boots," as he was known to them, was subject to periods of irrational behavior.

Acquittal Refutes Charges, Says Perry

Pittsburgh, May 24 (AP)—The president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, believes the verdict of acquittal by a U. S. District court jury in the trial of the corporation "completely refutes" the "unsubstantiated accusations" which he said the Senate Truman committee made against the United States Steel subsidiary.

In a statement commenting on yesterday's verdict by the Federal jury after a three-week trial, the official, J. Lester Perry, said:

"We are happy to have the public know that the unfair and unsubstantiated accusations made by the Truman committee of the delivery by Carnegie-Illinois of defective plates have been completely refuted."

Charges that the corporation destroyed or falsified records pertaining to tests on steel ship plate for the government grew out of hearings conducted last year by the Truman committee.

Panic Kills Four In Dance Hall Blaze

Hamilton, Ont., May 24 (AP)—A

flash fire swept through a crowded dance hall early today, killing four persons and injuring 37, nine critically.

Most of the 70 persons attending the dance in Moose hall jumped or were crowded from second story windows.

"They came out all in flames, like torches," a witness said.

They were attending a staff party of the Royal Oak Dairy.

The dead, all of Hamilton, were listed as: Mrs. Roy Martin, 36; William Cleland, 40; Mrs. Anne Whitely, 41, and James Numbers, 39.

Paracutin, a new volcano 200 miles west of Mexico City, rose from a cornfield to a height of a thousand feet and is the first whose entire life has been recorded scientifically.

Just Folks

LUCK
Luck is haphazard; his work's never sure;
His grip on his fortune is never secure.
With "Let's get it over" he ventures a shot,
And never knows whether it's well aimed or not.
He sometimes hits "twelve," but he's hoping just then
No scoffer will ask him to do it again.

Luck is a play boy. He dances along,
And sometimes succeeds though his method is wrong.
Sometimes, when who ventures may happen to win,
Luck starts, though the wise are afraid to begin,
But deep in his heart Luck is hoping that men
Won't ask him to prove he can do it again.

Oh, Luck's a good fellow to have at your side,
But Knowledge and Skill surer triumphs provide.
It is good, now and then, to be favored with Luck,
But better companions are Patience and Pluck.

Who wins on his merits fears no body when
He is apt to be called on to do it again.

Today's Talk

MAGNIFICENCE IN SMALL THINGS

Some day, if this tragic war shall not have taken toll of those world-renowned works of art by Phidias, I would like to look upon them—largely because, as the historian Pliny has said, "he showed the same magnificence even in small things."

The great Minerva, at Athens, is about thirty-five feet in height and is set so carefully and perfectly is each detail worked out that every part is a work of intricate art. The shield, the sandals, and even the pedestal—each elaborate in design and workmanship. A dozen masterpieces in one!

Some months ago I stood before the smooth-running engine of one of these modern war planes, and was fascinated by the perfect working of the thousands of parts that went to make up that intricate piece of engineering genius. I noted tiny parts that of themselves looked unimportant—but it would take only one of these, perhaps, to cause tragedy in the air. The small things are important, for they support the big things.

Hazlitt, the English writer, in one of his essays said this: "The little in art begins with insignificant parts, with what does not tell in connection with other parts." This fact accounts for our immortal art that lives on into the centuries.

Nothing that is important can be said to be insignificant.

There is moral value, as well, that shines out in emergencies, enlarging, and ennobling character itself. I recall an incident that happened many years ago in Chicago—in one of the great department stores. The manager was showing a guest through a department of magnificent glass displays, when a great crash was heard. Masses of priceless glass lay broken upon the floor. Apparently a man had tripped or stumbled against a table and fell to the floor with the glassware. Hurrying to the scene, the manager merely inquired if he was hurt, and learning that he was not quietly walked on as though nothing had happened!

Magnificence in small things is a matter of decision, of many defeats, perhaps, of discipline, or, in the final analysis, of character. But it always marks the mind of a master.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Arrangement of Life."

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Passes Annapolis Test: Kenneth P. Hartman, a graduate of Gettysburg high school in 1918, has passed the mental examination for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and will report there next month for the physical test. If found satisfactory physically, he will be admitted to the class of 1923 in the academy. He is at present living with his parents in Philadelphia.

Purchases Delicatessen: Edward Lühring has purchased the Wisotzkey delicatessen store on Chambersburg street and will take possession next week. E. P. Wisotzkey has conducted the business there for the past three years.

Tipton to Mont Alto: State Constable Norman Tipton, who has been stationed here for the past several months, will move to the Mont Alto station on the first of June. Constable Shover will remain in Gettysburg and another man sent here to replace Tipton.

William Dubbs Lands: Mrs. Nettie Dubbs, of Center Square, has received word from New York city, that her son, William, has arrived there on the "Walter Luckenback." William Dubbs left this country last June.

Change Firm Name: The Musselman Canning company of Biglerville, will hereafter operate under the name of the C. H. Musselman company. The change was made necessary as the company is now interested in enterprises outside of the canning industry.

Davis—Marsh: Ralph Dewey Davis and Rosie May Marsh, both of the Gardners section, were married Saturday evening at nine o'clock by the Rev. G. W. Frey in the manse at Idaville. The newlyweds will make their home near Gardners.

Streets Torn Up: Many months will elapse before the Lincoln highway will be completely open for traffic as the streets are now being torn up by the gas company, in response to the ordinance requiring all pipes to be repaired in sixty days and at the end of that time it is supposed that work on actual construction of the streets will commence.

Beckstrands Leave: Rev. and Mrs. O. G. Beckstrand left Gettysburg for Rockford, Illinois, Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Beckstrand, who graduated from the Gettysburg Seminary on Wednesday, will become assistant pastor of the Lutheran church he formerly attended.

While her husband attended Seminary during the past two years, Mrs. Beckstrand taught vocal music at the Arendtsville Vocational school.

Bayonet Wound: Freeman Tate, of near Gettysburg, has been discharged from the service. While attached to the 9th Infantry in a night attack in France where he fought at Chateau Thierry, Argonne and Soissons, he received a bayonet wound in the face. Tate was attacked by two Germans and although he succeeded in getting one, the other gave him a wound that put him out of action.

Lippy On Leave: Radford Lippy, of the Merchant Marine Service, is in Gettysburg for a few days. He has just returned from England on the "East Indian."

Discharged From Army: Lieutenant William Allison and Sergeant Norman Tate, both of the 28th or "Iron" Division, have received their discharge from the United States Army and have returned to their homes in Gettysburg. Both men served in the army nearly two years.

Town Girls As Army Lasses: Dressed in the blue coats and bonnets characteristic of the Salvation Army lasses, sixteen girls of Gettysburg walked the streets Saturday bearing large baskets of freshly baked doughnuts which they sold to enable Adams county to reach its quota in the $7,000 Salvation Army drive.

Miss Anna Gilliland is in charge of the Salvation Army lasses, who are the Misses Caroline Blocher, Ruth Bender, Henrietta Hersh, Elizabeth McIlhenny, Mary Musselman, Elizabeth Evans, Constance Weaver, Lorene Roth, Margaret Majors, Martha Majors, Ruth Stallsmith, Elizabeth Huber, Genevieve Power, Beulah Elssesser, Anna Miller and Alice Wray.

Personal: Mrs. John Heck and children have returned to their home on South street, after visiting in Pottsville.

Grover Bream, of Wilmington, Delaware, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bream, of Seminary Ridge.

Sergeant Howard Armor has received his honorable discharge from the army and has returned to his home on East Middle street. Sergeant Armor spent twelve months overseas.

Miss Effie Singley, of Chambersburg street, spent the week-end near Orrianna.

Carl Martz visited his parents in Cachtown over the week-end.

MARTIN TELLS PLANS FOR USING SURPLUS FUNDS

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—Governor Martin, with more than $100,000,000 surplus piling up in the State Treasury, has indicated an Administration ambition is payment of all outstanding commonwealth debts before he leaves office.

Declaring lowering of taxes, post-war projects and necessary increase in some departmental expenses will also be suggested, Martin said he "would consider it a great accomplishment if all debts of Pennsylvania could be liquidated" during his Administration.

"We'll have a definite recommendation for the next session of the legislature (1945)," he told reporters yesterday. "If we do away with any taxes, we will do away with those detrimental to the most people."

Road Work Planned
Asserting "real estate taxes are too high," Martin said that problem is being studied by a legislative committee. He added a program of post-war projects would be financed by public funds "to make complete employment."

"We'll do things the communities need," he continued. "They will be necessary projects—no leaf-raking work."

He said a decision on proposed extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike—a low-grade toll road linking Pittsburgh and Harrisburg—will depend on surveys now being made. He reiterated Pennsylvania is now planning a long range $500,000,000 highway construction program under which some 6,000 miles of rural roads will be added to the commonwealth's road system.

May Ask Report On Cruiser For Russia

Washington, May 24 (AP)—The prospect developed today that Senators on the Naval committee may ask for an official report on whether a United States cruiser has been transferred to Russia as part of an agreement growing out of the surrender of the Italian fleet.

The ranking Republican member of the Naval committee, Senator Davis of Pennsylvania expressed the view that "Congress ought to be consulted about these things; further, the people are entitled to know about them as long as the facts don't violate military security."

Meanwhile, Senator Bridges (R-N. H.), who made the first public reference to a cruiser transfer in a Senate speech yesterday, referred to it as "a wholly different story" than supplying military goods to Russia. He said the United States Navy faces a largely Naval war against Japan, and that Russia isn't in the war against Japan.

Representative Hebert (D-La.) told the House yesterday that he had been told by Navy Secretary Forrestal that the Navy has not turned over any of its fighting ships to Russia.

CHINESE ARMY SMASHES JAPS INTO RETREAT

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

A Chinese counter-offensive steadily gathering momentum today forced into full retreat a crack Japanese Army aiming at the heart of China.

The weeks-long fighting in wheat-rich Honan province has "reached a new phase," the Chinese high command declared, and the new full-scale counter blows are forcing back the Japanese in all sectors.

Lushui, roughly 400 miles northeast of Chungking, was recaptured from the invaders. Other Chinese forces besieged in strategic Loyang furiously fought off attackers and awaited reinforcements pushing in from the southwest.

The main Chinese counter-attack appeared developing along the Lung-hai railroad, heading toward Shan-hsien and Loyang. Thus it seemed the threat to Tungkan, west of those cities and controlling an invasion route to Chungking, was being eased.

Stilwell Advances
Myitkya far to the south in northern Burma continued a bitterly-sought prize for Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese and American troops. His headquarters said the Allied forces pushed further into the partly-held city and captured a railroad junction nearby. Seizure of the junction tightened Stilwell's control of Myitkya's air port, captured last week.

The men of the U. S. Sixth Army widened their hold on the Dutch New Guinea coast opposite captured Wakde island. Destroyer guns and land artillery removed Japanese mortar positions, allowing the Americans to move nearer two airfields near Sarmi, opposite Wakde.

To the northwest Liberators dropped 150 tons of bombs on Biak island in the Schouten group lying in Geelvink bay. Supply dumps were hit on Biak, which recently has come under incessant and probably significant air attack. The Schoutens lie in the path of any further westward move by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces.

Elliott Roosevelt Honored By British

London, May 24 (AP)—Col. Elliott Roosevelt, commander of an Eighth Air Force Photo Reconnaissance wing, has been awarded the British CBE (Commander of the British Empire Order), third highest recognition of merit for non-British subjects, for outstanding work in the North African campaign.

The decoration was pinned on the son of the President of the United States by an Chet Marshall Trafford L. Leigh-Mallory, Allied Invasion Air commander, who praised Col. Roosevelt's work and declared the award "a still further link of the close bonds that have bound the United States and Britain throughout this war."

Roosevelt's unit, composed of fliers of many Allied nations, took all the reconnaissance photographs preceding the invasion of Sicily—more than 5,500,000 photos in all.

DRASTIC NEW RADIO MEASURE IS PROPOSED

Washington, May 24 (AP)—A drastic new radio bill—banning commercially-sponsored news broadcasts and rewriting the Federal Communications Act—hit the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today like a program-break bulletin.

Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont) who drafted the controversial legislation jointly with Acting Minority Leader White, of Maine, called the job "one of the worst headaches I have had in my 20 years in the committee."

Both Wheeler and White predicted the committee would vote the bill "up or down" within two or three weeks.

Controversial Section
A provision to force radio stations and networks to stand the expense of all news broadcasts, including those of commentators and analysts, provoked the most controversy.

Wheeler said he saw little opposition to a provision prohibiting the commission from discriminating against applicants for licenses to operate radio stations.

He said this was to prevent the FCC from denying licenses to newspapers.

Another provision, sought by operators of big networks who have long been in controversy with FCC Chairman James L. Fly, would reduce the commission from 7 to 5 members, and prohibit any member from serving as chairman for more than one year.

CHURCHILL SAYS VICTORY IS 1ST BRITISH GOAL

London, May 24 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, opening a foreign policy debate which may chart Britain's course in the post war organization, told the House of Commons today that the premiers of the British commonwealth had one common immediate objective—to beat the enemy as soon as possible.

Churchill brought to Parliament a report on the recently conducted talks of the premiers in London—a conference at which, he said, they arrived "at the core of an agreement which will enable the British empire and commonwealth to meet in discussion with other great powers in the world in a firmly knit array."

He told Commons that the Allies, after giving Turkey $20,000,000 worth of American and British arms "have suspended the process of trying to export Turkey to range herself with the victorious united powers."

Can Win Without Turkey
He added immediately that it looked "probable, in spite of our disappointment," the Allies will be able to win the war in the Balkans and "throughout southeast Europe without Turkey being involved."

But he declared "of course the aid of Turkey would be a great acceleration in that process."

He called Turkey's recent suspension of chrome shipments to the Nazis a "generous gesture," but made it clear it would not win her "a strong position at the peace table which she would have had had she joined the Allies."

Hope To Save Rome
Turning to the battle ground of the Mediterranean the Premier asserted the "fate of Italy is indeed terrible" and said he found it difficult "to nourish animosity against the Italian people."

As he referred to war-wrought destruction which he said could not be imagined or forecast—Churchill promised that "we shall do our utmost to make the ordeal as short and as little destructive as possible."

"We have great hopes that Rome may be preserved," he said.

Churchill had praised for the new Italian government, saying it is "facing its responsibilities manfully, doing all in its power to aid the Allies in their advance."

Just Folks
LUCK
Luck is haphazard; his work's never sure;
His grip on his fortune is never secure.
With "Let's get it over" he ventures a shot,
And never knows whether it's well aimed or not.
He sometimes hits "twelve," but he's hoping just then
No scotter will ask him to do it again.

Luck is a play boy. He dances along,
And sometimes succeeds though his method is wrong.
Sometimes, when who ventures may start to win,
Luck starts, though the wise are afraid to begin.
But deep in his heart Luck is hoping that men
Won't ask him to prove he can do it again.

Oh, Luck's a good fellow to have at your side,
But knowledge and skill surr triumphs provide.
It is good, now and then, to be favored with Luck,
But better companions are Patience and Pluck.
Who wins on his merits fears nobody when
He is apt to be called on to do it again.

Today's Talk
MAGNIFICENCE IN SMALL THINGS
Some day, if this tragic war shall not have taken toll of those world-renowned works of art by Phidias, I would like to look upon them — largely because, as the historian Pliny has said, "he showed the same magnificence even in small things."
The great Minerva, at Athens, is about thirty-five feet in height and yet so carefully and perfectly is each detail worked out that every part is a work of intricate art. The shield, the sandals, and even the pedestal — each elaborate in design and workmanship. A dozen masterpieces in one!

Some months ago I stood before the smooth-running engine of one of these modern war planes, and was fascinated by the perfect working of the thousands of parts that went to make up that intricate piece of engineering genius. I noted tiny parts that of themselves looked unimportant — but it would take only one of these, perhaps, to cause tragedy in the air. The small things are important, for they support the big things.

Hazlitt, the English writer, in one of his essays said this: "The little art begins with insignificant parts, with what does not tell in connection with other parts." This fact accounts for our immortal art that lives on into the centuries.

Nothing that is important can be said to be insignificant.
There is moral value, as well, that shines out in emergencies, enlarging, and ennobling character itself. I recall an incident that happened many years ago in Chicago — in one of the great department stores. The manager was showing a guest through a department of magnificent glass displays, when a great crash was heard. Masses of priceless glass lay broken upon the floor. Apparently a man had tripped or stumbled against a table and fell to the floor with the glassware. Hurrying to the scene, the manager merely inquired if he was hurt, and learning that he was not, quietly walked on as though nothing had happened!

Magnificence in small things is a matter of decision, of many defeats, perhaps, of discipline, or, in the final analysis, of character. But it always marks the mind of a master.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Arrangement of Life."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
P. Hartman, a graduate of Gettysburg high school in 1918, has passed the mental examination for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and will report there next month for the physical test. If found satisfactory physically, he will be admitted to the class of 1923 in the academy. He is at present living with his parents in Philadelphia.

Purchases Delicatessen: Edward Lahrung has purchased the Wisotzky delicatessen store on Chambersburg street and will take possession next week. E. P. Wisotzky has conducted the business there for the past three years.

Tipton to Mont Alto: State Constable Norman Tipton, who has been stationed here for the past several months, will move to the Mont Alto station on the first of June. Constable Shover will remain in Gettysburg and another man sent here to replace Tipton.

William Dubbs Lands: Mrs. Nettie Dubbs, of Center Square, has received word from New York City, that her son, William has arrived there on the "Walter Luckenback." William Dubbs left this country last June.

Change Firm Name: The Musselman Canning company of Biglerville, will hereafter operate under the name of the C. H. Musselman company. The change was made necessary as the company is now interested in enterprises outside of the canning industry.

Davis—Marsh: Ralph Dewey Davis and Rosie May Marsh, both of the Gardner section, were married Saturday evening at nine o'clock by the Rev. G. W. Frey in the manse at Idaville. The newlyweds will make their home near Gardner.

Streets Torn Up: Many months will elapse before the Lincoln highway passing through Gettysburg will be completely open for traffic as the streets are now being torn up by the gas company, in response to the ordinance requiring all pipes to be repaired in sixty days and at the end of that time it is supposed that work on actual construction of the streets will commence.

Beckstrands Leave: Rev. and Mrs. O. G. Beckstrand left Gettysburg for Rockford, Illinois, Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Beckstrand, who graduated from the Gettysburg Seminary on Wednesday, will become assistant pastor of the Lutheran church he formerly attended.
While her husband attended Seminary during the past two years, Mrs. Beckstrand taught vocal music at the Arendtsville Vocational school.

Bayonet Wound: Freeman Tate, of near Gettysburg, has been discharged from the service. While attached to the 9th Infantry in a night attack in France where he fought at Chateau Thierry, Argonne and Soissons, he received a bayonet wound in the face. Tate was attacked by two Germans and although he succeeded in getting one, the other gave him a wound that put him out of action.

Lippy On Leave: Radford Lippy, of the Merchant Marine Service, is in Gettysburg for a few days. He has just returned from England on the "East Indian."

Discharged From Army: Lieutenant William Allison and Sergeant Norman Tate, both of the 28th or "Iron" Division, have received their discharge from the United States Army and have returned to their homes in Gettysburg. Both men served in the army nearly two years.

Town Girls As Army Lassies: Dressed in the blue coats and bonnets characteristic of the Salvation Army lassies, sixteen girls of Gettysburg walked the streets Saturday bearing large baskets of freshly baked doughnuts which they sold to enable Adams county to reach its quota in the $7,000 Salvation Army drive.

Miss Anna Gilliland is in charge of the Salvation Army lassies, who are the Misses Caroline Blocher, Ruth Bender, Henrietta Hersh, Elizabeth McIlhenny, Mary Musselman, Elizabeth Evans, Constance Weaver, Lorene Roth, Margaret Majors, Martha Majors, Ruth Stallsmith, Elizabeth Huber, Genevieve Power, Beulah Ellesser, Anna Miller and Alice Wray.

Personal: Mrs. John Heck and children have returned to their home on South street, after visiting in Pottsville.

Grover Bream, of Wilmington, Delaware, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bream, of Seminary Ridge.

Sergeant Howard Armor has received his honorable discharge from the army and has returned to his home on East Middle street. Sergeant Armor spent twelve months overseas.

Miss Etta Singley, of Chambersburg street, spent the week-end near Orrtanna.

Carl Martz visited his parents in Cashtown over the week-end.

MARTIN TELLS PLANS FOR USING SURPLUS FUNDS

Harrisburg, May 24 (AP)—Governor Martin, with more than $100,000,000 surplus piling up in the State Treasury, has indicated an Administration ambition is payment of all outstanding commonwealth debts before he leaves office.

Declaring lowering of taxes, post-war projects and necessary increase in some departmental expenses will also be suggested, Martin said he "would consider it a great accomplishment if all debts of Pennsylvania could be liquidated" during his Administration.

"We'll have a definite recommendation for the next session of the legislature (1945)", he told reporters yesterday. "If we do away with any taxes, we will do away with those detrimental to the most people."

Road Work Planned
Asserting "real estate taxes are too high," Martin said that problem is being studied by a legislative committee. He added a program of post-war projects would be financed by public funds "to make complete employment."

PVT. LAWRENCE

assigned as chauffeurs for the Eighth Air Force headquarters.

Children Begged Candy
The job proved a sightseer's paradise, with the men whom he chauffeured being sent to all parts of England, Scotland and Wales. He visited the larger cities and most of the smaller towns of any consequence in all parts of the United Kingdom.

Even the English youngsters soon learned to beg candy or money from the American soldiers, but the English children were more appealing and less annoying than the Arab and French youngsters in Africa who pleaded constantly with American soldiers for "don-bon" candy, Pvt. Lawrence reports.

Sent to Oran, Africa, shortly after the invasion of North Africa took place, Pvt. Lawrence met his brother, Pvt. Raymond Lawrence, now in Italy. For three weeks they were together as much as army regulations would allow, with John's commanding officer allowing him use of a car while visiting his brother.

Fried Chicken On Sundays
The two found most Arabs very dirty and "dangerous to a soldier if he becomes drunk or gets away from the usual sections." A favorite Arab trick, he reports, is to stab a soldier and rob him of his money.

The highest class of Arabs dress in white, with the women being very pretty, what can be seen of them through a veil they wear over their faces.

Food was good in Africa, with the troops given fried chicken each Sunday evening for their supper.

A favorite tour of duty for Pvt. John Lawrence was the period when he was chauffeur to an inspecting officer whose duty it was to inspect establishments making ice cream and coco-cola.

In Africa at the same time were T-5 George Tate, T-5 Bernard Small, Pvt. Mike Tate and Pvt. Phil Small. The Gettysburg contingent held frequent reunions with Lt. C. W. Epler, Jr., Merchant Seaman Eugene Purdy and Pvt. Charles Riggs, now of McSherrystown, who is at present at home on a "delay enroute," having been sent back to the United States with Pvt. Lawrence.

Gettysburg Wac In Algiers
James Myers, of Fairfield, was another coultian met by Pvt. Lawrence while in Africa. Myers, who was hurt in combat, was sent back to join an M. P. outfit in Parreux, Africa.

A mystery to the Gettysburg contingent is a WAC, supposedly from Gettysburg, who is said to be stationed in Algiers. A number of their fellow soldiers told them a Gettysburg girl was stationed there, he said, but he was unable to find out for sure just whom the WAC might be.

One French family in Oran stands out as among the finest people there, Pvt. Lawrence says.

Three Brothers In Service
Mile. Lawrence Bourree and her parents went out of their way to be kind to the American soldiers in Oran. Private Lawrence says and he was a frequent visitor to the Bourree home. Mile. Bourree, only 17, owned a beauty parlor in Oran and was being helped by her parents in its operation until she became of age at 18 under French law.

Private Lawrence has three brothers and two brothers-in-law in service. Besides Private Raymond in Italy, Sergeant Donald is a gunner with a bombing squadron in England and Pfc. Floyd, who was stationed in Hawaii for two years prior to December 7, 1941, is now in the Pacific battle area.

Wed On June 5
The brothers-in-law are Pvt. Clifford J. Staley, Sheppard Field, Texas, and Pvt. George J. Staley, Camp Bowie, Texas. The two Staleys are cousins.

The last part of the delay enroute will be in the form of a wedding trip with Private Lawrence to marry Elizabeth Agnes Cool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cool, Gettysburg R. 1, on June 5 at 8 a. m. in St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, with the Rev. Mark E. Stock, pastor of the church officiating. Miss Cool, who attended Gettysburg high school is now employed at the Blue Ridge Rubber company, Littlestown.

The enemy is known to have prepared last-ditch defenses south of Rome on a general line running from Avezzano through Valmontone, westward in the vicinity of Velletri and then through the Alban hills to the sea.

Today, however, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring finds this line threatened both at the western anchor as well as by the beachhead offensive, while the bulk of his beleaguered army is fighting for its life on the mainland fronts, especially in the Liri valley, 43 miles away to the southeast.

care program but it does not believe the proposed bill is the solution," Doctor Sheely said. Asked what alternate plan the AMA offers, he urged the expansion of group insurance and commercial insurance plans together with a state-financed, privately-operated plan. He said the AMA plan will be outlined here next Monday evening by Dr. C. F. Palmer in an address at a service club dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Mr. Kinsey later invited the group to attend the dinner session or go to the hotel after the dinner to hear Doctor Palmer's address.

Doctor Bream in his discussion of the whole medical care problem described provisions of the pending bill; listed arguments for and against it; distributed literature issued against the bill by the AMA and in favor of it by the Physicians' Forum of New York; described results of surveys showing the great need for extended medical care among lower income groups in the United States and explained group insurance and cooperative health insurance plans operating at various places in the United States, all of which were initially opposed by the AMA, he said.

"Woefully Ineffective"
The bill, Doctor Bream said, would impose an additional three per cent tax on the employer and on the employee above present social security levies to set up a fund which would finance complete medical and hospital care for the employee and his family. Individuals could select their own doctor; doctors could decide whether they wished to operate under the plan or remain in private practice and the doctors themselves would decide on the plan—fee, time or salary—under which they would be paid.

Doctor Bream reviewed briefly results of national surveys started in 1927 and 1928 and completed five years later showing the "woefully ineffective distribution of medical service in the U. S." and the increasing tendency for the development of methods of spreading the cost of medical care. Low income groups have the most illness and the least amount of care, because of lack of financial means or neglect, he stated.

He quoted official reports from England that showed public health insurance there brought "great health benefits, progress in the prevention of disease and increased incomes to the average practitioner."

Present Plans Not Enough
After Doctor Sheely suggested the alternate plans for the expansion of present voluntary private, commercial and cooperative health insurance plans, Doctor Bream declared that such plans do not work because in most instances they are too expensive for the class of family that most sorely needs the help and that simple neglect will keep many from health benefits.

He also showed by national survey statistics that the level of public health in this nation—with voluntary public health insurance plans available—has been almost static during the last 25 years.

Doctor Bream was presented by Mrs. R. S. Saby, chairman of the welfare committee's program chairman.

Chapter 23

The beautiful weather was still holding; it was another gorgeous day. Cora had decided to take a walk. Her path ascended rather steeply but was smooth, and there were cleared spots along it where one could look out across the valley below.

She realized that she was going in the general direction of Oh Be Thankful's abode. "Be a nice place," she muttered a bit uneasily, "to meet that ape." But as she went on and there was no sign of Oh Be Thankful or anyone else she got her qualms.

Walking, even for Cora—who was not a good walker—seemed to be effortless, so invigorating was the air. She came out after a while into a cleared space and was surprised to see picnic tables and benches. She dropped down on one of the seats to rest.

As she sat there she remembered the story Zelda had told about the man pushing his wife off a cliff. "I'll bet this is the place," she said aloud.

There was a sign on one of the trees and she got up and went over to it and peered at it nearsightedly. Sure enough, it said "To the cliff." There was an arrow indicating the direction.

Motivated by idle curiosity, Cora followed the path and shortly came out onto a rocky promontory. It was the top of a steep wooded cliff that dropped to the base of the mountain. Steps had been cut in the face of it, forming a quick way up and down for the more adventuresome.

There was a farmer working with his horse in the field below and Cora watched him as he stopped and adjusted the harness. She began to hum, "If I Had the Wings of an Angel," and debated in her mind whether she would dare to make the descent by way of the rocky stairs. As she stood there, humming softly, and almost determined to venture the steps, she felt herself suddenly pushed from behind!

With a frantic clutch at the sky, she went over. The farmer, who at that instant glanced up, stood open-mouthed, watching Cora's precipitous descent.

She tumbled over and over with a sort of ludicrous dignity, her voluminous skirt catching occasionally on the stunted growth on the face of the cliff. Finally, about fifteen feet from the bottom, it snagged on a slender, dead tree trunk, and here she hung. She was almost senseless from fright and the battering she had sustained, but she was alive and, apparently, unbroken.

After a dazed minute or two Cora managed to brace one foot in a niche in the rock, and so took a little of the strain from her skirt. She had lost her glasses almost at the beginning of her descent and had no idea how far she had fallen.

The farmer had remained transfixed, but now he came to life and with a shouted command to the horse to stand still, he began running over the uneven ground.

"Hold on!" he yelled. "Hold on."

I'll get you down."

He reached the cliff and began clambering up the steps. When he reached a place opposite Cora he found he could, by stretching a bit, just manage to reach her outstretched hand.

"You'll have to help yourself a little, m'am," he said. "Here. Can you reach the branch of this tree?"

"I guess so," said Cora tremulously. She clutched the limb of the stout little tree and felt with her toe along the rock. She found a narrow ledge and managed to get her toe on it. But she was still unable to move.

"It's your skirt," the farmer told her. "It's hooked over a stump. I guess you'll have to take it off—if you can."

For a time this seemed impossible. The farmer got out his pocket knife, said, "Here, you'll have to cut yourself loose."

Hanging onto the branch with one hand, Cora managed to slit her skirt and disentangle herself from it.

"Now," said the farmer, and in another minute she was safe on the step beside him, clutching him in a weak but desperate embrace.

"There, there," he told her. "You are all right now. Right on the step. No need to be scared now, m'am."

"I'm not scared," Cora quavered. "But I can't see. I've lost my glasses."

He helped her down the steps carefully and kept a firm hand under her arm after she was safe on the ground.

"How did you come to topple over, m'am?" he asked.

"Topple over, indeed. I was pushed." He backed away slightly.

"Oh, now m'am! I guess you just kinda lost your balance."

"I was pushed, I tell you," she insisted.

"Well, pushed you was then. But I was looking—"

"I don't care what you were doing. I guess I know how I came to go over. And I bet," she added darkly, "I know just who did it, too!"

The farmer scratched his head, after Cora's glasses had been found. "Well, you oughta be gittin' home," he decided. "Where do you live?"

"I'm at the Nickols cottage. Do you know where that is?"

"Sure. That's easy. I was a mile afraid you might have to go through the village. I was wonderin' how you were ever goin' to make it in them pink drawers."

Cora sniffed. "They're bloomers—not drawers. And I'm covered at least. That's more than you can say for some of those young hussies—"

"Yes, m'am," he hastened to pacify her. "I agree with you. It's quite a long ways around to the house, though. Do you think you can walk that far—after tumbling down a mountain?"

"Well, I can try."

"Say!" he exclaimed as they started out. "No need to hoof it. I'll h'ist ya up on Nelly, and ya can go home in style."

He unhitched the great dappled farm horse from the cutter, and for the second time Cora—half-clad—rode home in dubious splendor on the back of a plodding beast of burden.

Children Begged Candy

The job proved a sightseer's paradise, with the men who chauffeur being sent to all parts of England, Scotland and Wales. He visited the larger cities and most of the smaller towns of any consequence in all parts of the United Kingdom.

Even the English youngsters soon learned to beg candy or money from the American soldiers, but the English children were more appealing and less annoying than the Arab and French youngsters in Africa who pleaded constantly with American soldiers for "don-bon," candy, Pvt. Lawrence reports.

Sent to Oran, Africa, shortly after the invasion of North Africa took place, Pvt. Lawrence met his brother, Pvt. Raymond Lawrence, now in Italy. For three weeks they were together as much as army regulations would allow, with John's commanding officer allowing him use of a car while visiting his brother.

Fried Chicken On Sundays

The two found most Arabs very dirty and "dangerous to a soldier if he becomes drunk or gets away from the usual sections." A favorite Arab trick, he reports, is to stab a soldier and rob him of his money.

The highest class of Arabs dress in white, with the women being very pretty, what can be seen of them through a veil they wear over their faces.

Foods was good in Africa, with the troops given fried chicken each Sunday evening for their supper.

A favorite tour of duty for Pvt. John Lawrence was the period when he was chauffeur to an inspecting officer whose duty it was to inspect establishments making ice cream and coco-cola.

In Africa at the same time were T-5 George Tate, T-5 Bernard Small, Pvt. Mike Tate and Pvt. Phil Small. The Gettysburg contingent held frequent reunions with Lt. C. W. Epley, Jr., Merchant Seaman Eugene Purdy and Pvt. Charles Riggs, now of McSherrystown, who is at present at home on a "delay enroute," having been sent back to the United States with Pvt. Lawrence.

Gettysburg War In Algiers

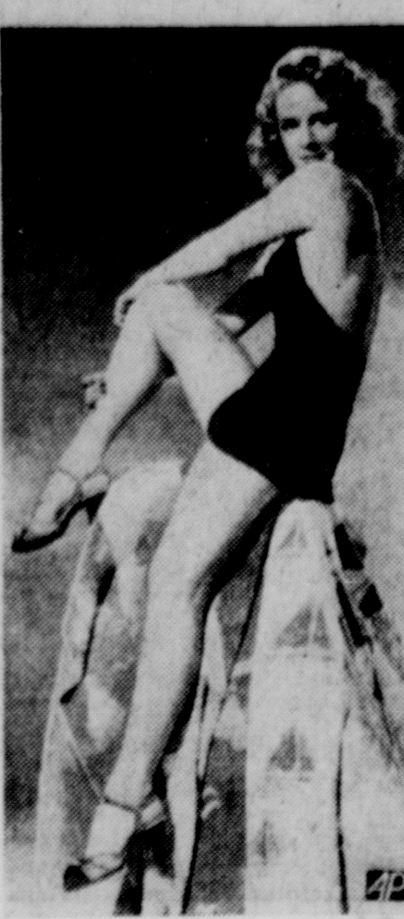

James Myers, of Fairfield, was another cousin met by Pvt. Lawrence while in Africa. Myers, who was hurt in combat, was sent back to join an M. P. outfit in Parreux, Africa.

A mystery to the Gettysburg contingent is a WAC, supposedly from Gettysburg, who is said to be stationed in Algiers. A number of their fellow soldiers told them a Gettysburg girl was stationed there, he said, but he was unable to find out for sure just whom the WAC might be.

One French family in Oran stands out as among the finest people there, Pvt. Lawrence says.

Three Brothers In Service

Mile. Lawrence Bourree and her parents went out of their way to be kind to the American soldiers in Oran. Private Lawrence says and he was a frequent visitor to the Bourree home. Mile. Bourree, only 17, owned a beauty parlor in Oran and was being helped by her parents.

SUN FAN — Janis Carter, Hollywood film actress, strikes a pretty pose in a bathing suit designed to give her back the maximum benefit of the California sunshine.

ents in its operation until she became of age at 18 under French law.

Private Lawrence has three brothers and two brothers-in-law in service. Besides Private Raymond in Italy, Sergeant Donald is a gunner with a bombing squadron in England and Pfc. Floyd, who was stationed in Hawaii for two years prior to December 7, 1941, is now in the Pacific battle area.

To Wed On June 3

The brothers-in-law are Pvt. Clifford J. Staley, Sheppard Field, Texas, and Pvt. George J. Staley, Camp Bowie, Texas. The two Staleys are cousins.

The last part of the delay enroute will be in the form of a wedding trip with Private Lawrence to marry Elizabeth Agnes Cool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cool, Gettysburg R. 1, on June 3 at 8 a. m. in St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, with the Rev. Mark E. Stoeck, pastor of the church officiating. Miss Cool, who attended Gettysburg high school is now employed at the Blue Ridge Rubber company, Littlestown.

care program but it does not believe the proposed bill is the solution," Doctor Sheely said. Asked what alternate plan the AMA offered, he urged the expansion of group insurance and commercial insurance plans together with a state-financed, privately-operated plan. He said the AMA plan will be outlined here next Monday evening by Dr. C. F. Palmer in an address at a service club dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Mr. Kinsey later invited the group to attend the dinner session or go to the hotel after the dinner to hear Doctor Palmer's address.

Doctor Bream in his discussion of the whole medical care problem described provisions of the pending bill: listed arguments for and against it; distributed literature issued against the bill by the AMA and in favor of it by the Physicians' Forum of New York; described results of surveys showing the great need for extended medical care among lower income groups in the United States and explained group insurance and cooperative health insurance plans operating at various places in the United States, all of which were initially opposed by the AMA, he said.

"Woefully Ineffective"

The bill, Doctor Bream said, would impose an additional three per cent tax on the employer and on the employee above present social security levies to set up a fund which would finance complete medical and hospital care for the employee and his family. Individuals could select their own doctor; doctors could decide whether they wish to operate under the plan or remain in private practice and the doctors themselves would decide on the plan—fee, time or salary—under which they would be paid.

Doctor Bream reviewed briefly results of national surveys started in 1927 and 1928 and completed five years later showing the "woefully ineffective" distribution of medical service in the U. S. and the increasing tendency for the development of methods of spreading the cost of medical care. Low income groups have the most illness and the least amount of care, because of lack of financial means or neglect, he stated.

He quoted official reports from England that showed public health insurance there brought "great health benefits, progress in the prevention of disease and increased incomes to the average practitioner."

After Doctor Sheely suggested the alternate plans for the expansion of present voluntary private, commercial and cooperative health insurance plans, Doctor Bream declared that such plans do not work because in most instances they are too expensive for the class of family that most sorely needs the help and that simple neglect will keep many from health benefits.

He also showed by national survey statistics that the level of public health in this nation—with voluntary public health insurance plans available—has been almost static during the last 25 years.

Doctor Bream was presented by Mrs. R. S. Saby, chairman of the welfare committee's program chairman.

4TH TERM ISSUE IN TEXAS SPLITS DEM. DELEGATES

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Democrats posed a tough problem today for the national convention in their split into two fighting factions, one choosing an un-instructed slate of delegates and another picking a delegation pledged to support a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

It will be up to the national gathering at Chicago in July to decide which group shall be seated, and on the basis of yesterday's bitter proceedings at Austin that decision will come only after many more harsh words.

Here's what the Texans, meeting in separate chambers at the state capital, did in their first split into two conventions in 52 years:

GOP Delegates Uninstructed

The pro-Roosevelt faction lost two test votes on instructing the state's 48 delegates, withdrew and named their own "to work and fight" for President Roosevelt's re-nomination.

Those in the original convention voted to send an uninstructed delegation, declaring in advance that Texas electors should not vote for the party nominees unless the national convention disapproves efforts "to nullify state laws for segregation" between white and negro school children and takes a stand against the Supreme court ruling that negroes may vote in Texas Democratic primaries.

By contrast, things went quietly in the Texas Republican convention at Houston which voted to send its 33 delegates to the national convention uninstructed. Anti-Administration speeches by Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio and others were loudly welcomed.

Won't Vote as Unit

The delegates caucused after the convention and decided not to follow the vote-as-a-unit rule, indicating that they would divide at least their first ballot votes between Bricker and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

At Washington, meanwhile, supporters of Gov. Bricker said today they would carry their first for the Republican Presidential nomination into the national convention despite the formidable backing piled up behind Dewey in State-by-state choices of delegates. Dewey now has 373 publicly undisputed votes while Bricker has 62.

With Dewey supporters urging an endorsement of their favorite, North Dakota Republicans convened today to pick 11 convention delegates.

Yesterday's Results

In actions yesterday: Maryland Republicans, although unable under regulations to instruct their 16 delegates, nevertheless voted in convention to recommend that they vote for Dewey at Chicago.

Florida Democrats nominated Millard Caldwell, former Congressman, for Governor in a runoff race with Rep. Lex Green, and chances are that the nomination will be good for the election in November. In the state's new Sixth Congressional district Dwight L. Rogers of Pennsylvania Synod would be the eastern boundaries of Lancaster, Lebanon, Dauphin, Northumberland, Columbia, Lycoming and Tioga counties. The petition is also being acted upon by the ministerium at sessions now being held and at the conference in Minneapolis this fall. If approved it will become effective on January 1.

W. K. S. Hershey, York, was elected treasurer of the synod to succeed L. C. Smith, Altoona. The treasurer's office was the only one to be filled this year.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Baker, York, former pastor of St. James Lutheran church here and a member of the Board of Foreign Missions, predicted a bright future for foreign missions of the church.

Delegates Elected

Delegates to the National convention at Minneapolis next fall were elected during the session.

Clerical delegates at-large, the Rev. Harry Saul, Carlisle; the Rev. C. R. Simons, York; the Rev. G. I. Melhorn, Johnstown; the Rev. E. R. Hauser, Clearfield; the Rev. L. C. Manges, Harrisburg; the Rev. G. E. McCarty, Philadelphia; the Rev. W. W. Barkley, Shippensburg; the Rev. I. H. Hagedorn, Philadelphia; the Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker, York; the Rev. Dr. H. D. Hoover, Gettysburg, and the Rev. C. S. Simonton, York.

The following lay delegates at-large were chosen: John Walborn, Sr., Harrisburg; H. F. Reed, State College; A. H. Durbanow, of Narberth, Penna.; Luther D. Grossman, Logansville; Robert T. Fox, Hummelstown; Alvin R. Nissly, Hanover; George W. Hafer, Chambersburg; F. P. Reiter, Johnstown; W. H. Menges, Spring Grove; Charles C. Culp, Gettysburg; Benjamin Apple, Sunbury, and Charles M. A. Stine, Wilmington, Delaware.

Other Countians Named

Clerical delegates: The Rev. H. W. Sternat, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville; Dr. H. C. Alleman, Gettysburg, retired; the Rev. Dr. Dwight P. Putman, pastor of Christ Lutheran church; the Rev. R. R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, and the Rev. Snyder Alleman, pastor of the Abbotstown Lutheran church.

Clerical alternate delegates: The Rev. H. L. Saul, pastor of First Lutheran church, Carlisle, and the Rev. George Sheffer, pastor of First Lutheran church, New Oxford.

Lay delegates: Dr. W. E. Tilberg, Christ Lutheran church, and Dr. Thomas L. Cline, also of Christ Lutheran church.

Alternate lay delegates: Luther Lady, Trinity Lutheran church, Ardenstville.

4TH TERM ISSUE IN TEXAS SPLITS DEM. DELEGATES

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Democrats posed a tough problem today for the national convention in their split into two fighting factions, one choosing an un-instructed slate of delegates and another picking a delegation pledged to support a fourth term for President Roosevelt.

It will be up to the national gathering at Chicago in July to decide which group shall be seated, and on the basis of yesterday's bitter proceedings at Austin that decision will come only after many more harsh words.

Here's what the Texans, meeting in separate chambers at the state capital, did in their first split into two conventions in 52 years:

GOP Delegates Uninstructed

The pro-Roosevelt faction lost two test votes on instructing the state's 48 delegates, withdrew and named their own "to work and fight" for President Roosevelt's re-nomination.

Those in the original convention voted to send an uninstructed delegation, declaring in advance that Texas electors should not vote for the party nominees unless the national convention disapproves efforts "to nullify state laws for segregation" between white and negro school children and takes a stand against the Supreme court ruling that negroes may vote in Texas Democratic primaries.

By contrast, things went quietly in the Texas Republican convention at Houston which voted to send its 33 delegates to the national convention uninstructed. Anti-Administration speeches by Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio and others were loudly welcomed.

Won't Vote as Unit

The delegates caucused after the convention and decided not to follow the vote-as-a-unit rule, indicating that they would divide at least their first ballot votes between Bricker and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

At Washington, meanwhile, supporters of Gov. Bricker said today they would carry their first for the Republican Presidential nomination into the national convention despite the formidable backing piled up behind Dewey in State-by-state choices of delegates. Dewey now has 373 publicly undisputed votes while Bricker has 62.

With Dewey supporters urging an endorsement of their favorite, North Dakota Republicans convened today to pick 11 convention delegates.

Yesterday's Results

In actions yesterday: Maryland Republicans, although unable under regulations to instruct their 16 delegates, nevertheless voted in convention to recommend that they vote for Dewey at Chicago.

Florida Democrats nominated Millard Caldwell, former Congressman, for Governor in a runoff race with Rep. Lex Green, and chances are that the nomination will be good for the election in November. In the state's new Sixth Congressional district Dwight L. Rogers of Pennsylvania Synod would be the eastern boundaries of Lancaster, Lebanon, Dauphin, Northumberland, Columbia, Lycoming and Tioga counties. The petition is also being acted upon by the ministerium at sessions now being held and at the conference in Minneapolis this fall. If approved it will become effective on January 1.

W. K. S. Hershey, York, was elected treasurer of the synod to succeed L. C. Smith, Altoona. The treasurer's office was the only one to be filled this year.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Baker, York, former pastor of St. James Lutheran church here and a member of the Board of Foreign Missions, predicted a bright future for foreign missions of the church.

Delegates Elected

Delegates to the National convention at Minneapolis next fall were elected during the session.

Clerical delegates-at-large, the Rev. Harry Saul, Carlisle; the Rev. C. R. Simons, York; the Rev. G. I. Melhorn, Johnstown; the Rev. E. R. Hauser, Clearfield; the Rev. L. C. Manages, Harrisburg; the Rev. G. E. McCarny, Philadelphia; the Rev. W. W. Barkley, Shippensburg; the Rev. I. H. Hagedorn, Philadelphia; the Rev. Dr. J. B. Baker, York; the Rev. Dr. H. D. Hoover, Gettysburg, and the Rev. C. S. Simonton, York.

The following lay delegates-at-large were chosen: John Walborn, Sr., Harrisburg; H. P. Reed, State College; A. H. Durbin, of Narberth, Penna.; Luther D. Grossman, Loysville; Robert T. Fox, Hummelstown; Alvin R. Nissly, Hanover; George W. Hafer, Chambersburg; F. P. Reiter, Johnstown; W. H. Menges, Spring Grove; Charles C. Culp, Gettysburg; Benjamin Apple, Sunbury, and Charles M. A. Stine, Wilmington, Delaware.

Other Countians Named

Clerical delegates: The Rev. H. W. Sternat, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville; Dr. H. C. Alleman, Gettysburg, retired; the Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, pastor of Christ Lutheran church; the Rev. R. R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, and the Rev. Snyder Alleman, pastor of the Abbottstown Lutheran church.

Clerical alternate delegates: The Rev. H. L. Saul, pastor of First Lutheran church, Carlisle, and the Rev. George Sheffer, pastor of First Lutheran church, New Oxford.

Lay delegates: Dr. W. E. Tilberg, Christ Lutheran church, and Dr. Thomas L. Cline, also of Christ Lutheran church.

Alternate lay delegates: Luther Lady, Trinity Lutheran church, Ardenstville.

Fort Lauderdale took a substantial lead over L. L. Stuckey of Pahokee. In Georgia, Republicans split into two factions. A predominantly white group selected four uninstructed delegates, all white, and a predominantly negro group chose seven white and seven negro delegates, instructing them for Dewey.

Undernourished children under the age of four score as much as 18 points higher in intelligence tests after they have been given an adequate diet.

A soldier in active service, or a mariner while at sea, can make an oral or unwritten will which is called a nuncupative will or testament.
